State's financial outlook said dim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials have agreed on stopgap measures to keep Ohio's bills paid until next July 1, but are fearful over what could happen the following year, they said Monday.

Budget and Management Director Howard L. Collier said he is pessimistic about the second year of the 1975-1977 biennium, and doesn't agree with those who say Ohio's economy is on the upturn.

"We've been in a recession and I see no real signs that we're coming out of it," Collier told a news conference. His remarks apparently were based in part on fears about this winter's expected natural gas shortage and its potential effect on employment.

To meet the already existing "cash flow" problem, the director proposed transfer of $109 million from committed funds not yet needed to get the state through the expected lean revenue months of December and January.

The $100 million would be "borrowed" from the Vietnam Compensation Fund and the state's federal revenue sharing trust fund without jeopardizing their long range commitments, Collier said. They would be repaid within 60 days under the plan which promptly picked up the endorsement of Democratic officials. Generally, they called it a reasonable solution to the state's current cash flow problem.

December and January were described by Collier as the "two big red months" when obligations will substantially exceed income. The transferred funds would be repaid in February when the state collects the corporate franchise tax for the 1975 tax year. He said those moves, along with closer spending controls and some other "gimmicks," will permit the state to end this year with a "minimal" cash balance.

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said he thinks Collier's plan is reasonable, but that he will insist—if the transfer is made—that the general revenue fund reimburse the Vietnam veterans' and the revenue sharing funds for interest lost during the 60-day period.

The legislature earlier this year earmarked the interest earnings of the revenue sharing fund for vocational education building construction. The reimbursement for interest would amount to about $1 million, said Deputy State Treasurer Wayne Maloon.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, and Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshe, D-33 Youngstown, also concurred in the Collier plan. Shoemaker predicted it would receive approval of the State Controlling Board, which would have to give the green light before the transfer could be made.

Ferguson and Collier both gave assurance that no veterans' bonuses would be endangered as a result of the use of about $60 million from its present $66 million balance. Likewise, Vietnam bonus bondholders would not be affected since their payments come from a separate bond retirement fund, they said. The balance of the $100 million "loan," or about $41 million, would come from the federal revenue sharing fund.

Currently, there is about $65 million in the revenue sharing fund. Officials said it has about $43 million in encumbrances, but most of those are for future vocational educational construction which won't be completed in the current biennium.

Collier said the state will have a shortfall of about $45 million in December and another of $55 million in January. Another $3.3 million deficit in February and $4.4 million in May can be made up with tighter spending controls and the use of "gimmicks" Collier said are legal but shouldn't be included as standard procedure in normal budget balancing operations.

Some 150 persons attend meet

Opinions voiced over health text

By GEORGE MALEK

Some 150 persons attended a meeting of the Washington C.H. Board of Education Monday night to voice their feelings concerning the freshman health book used at Washington Senior High School.

No objection with the factual accuracy of the book was raised, but the majority of those in attendance objected to some of the material presented because it "taught" concepts which were morally opposed to their religious beliefs.

Weighted by pastors and members of the congregations of area churches, the group voiced opposition to portions of Section Two dealing with drug abuse and Section Three: Sexuality and Human Reproduction of the book "Good Health, Personal and Community."

The more widespread objections seemed to be with the chapter on sexuality. While there was heavy criticism of the depth of material and the manner in which it was presented, only one person, the Rev. Brian Donahue, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, objected to "sex education" being taught in the schools in any form.

A large percentage of those addressing the board were pastors and their comments were frequently interrupted with shouts of "amen" from the audience.

Many of those who commented objected to the fact that the book took no moral stand on the issues presented.

Rev. Donahue was one of the more vocal on this issue stating that many "sinful" activities explained are not condemned by the text. He cited scripture to emphasize the sinfulness of these acts.

Sewer legislation on Council Slate

Two pieces of legislation required for the second phase of the proposed multi-million dollar sewer improvement project will be considered by members of the Washington C.H. City Council Wednesday night.

The meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the Washington C.H. Fire Department on N. Fayette Street, according to City Manager George H. Shapter.

City Council members will consider the second reading of an emergency ordinance authorizing the city manager to enter into an agreement with C.F. Bird and R.J. Bull, Ltd., the city's consulting engineering firm, for engineering services required for the proposed additions and improvements to the city wastewater system.

The ordinance was placed on its first reading at the last City Council meeting despite opposition voiced by Council members John E. Rhoads and Billie Wilson.

The legislation, if approved after two more readings, will permit the engineering firm to begin detailed plans on the second phase of the project and provide for payment to the firm on a fixed fee basis, rather than a percentage fee as is the case under the present contract. The firm is to receive a total of $616,400 for the drawing of detailed construction plans for the estimated $23.6-million project.

An emergency ordinance to accept a federal funding offer ($675,000) to finance engineering work completed during the first two phases of the three-phased project will again be considered by Council members. The ordinance was tabled at the last meeting in order to provide city officials time to receive the written copy of the offer.

Shapter said City Council members will be considering two other pieces of legislation during the meeting. Both pieces of legislation were tabled during the last meeting.

Scheduled for consideration are an emergency ordinance authorizing the city manager to designate and use Gale L. Helms and Associates for surveying and engineering purposes for the city, and an ordinance amending a measure approved in 1975 relating to a contract with the Court Cable Co.

Reports from Shapter and the city auditor will also be aired during the meeting.

Theft foils assassination plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The theft of a television set from a motel room was the undoing of carefully laid plans two men had for assassinating President Ford, federal officials say.

The two were indicted Monday by a federal grand jury for conspiring to assassinate Ford in Sacramento on Sept. 5 — the same day Manson follower Lynette Fromme allegedly pointed a gun at Ford as he walked through a Sacramento park.

A Justice Department spokesman said the alleged plot had no known connection with Miss Fromme's alleged attempt on Ford's life.

The indictment Monday said the assassination attempt was to include the bombing of a sewer as a diversion while shots were fired at the President.

The indictments charged Gary Steven DeSure, 32, and Preston Michael Mayo, 24, of Warren County, Va. They are tentatively scheduled for arraignment on the indictment Oct. 28.

Both men are in custody at Santa Barbara, Calif., where they were arrested Aug. 26 — 10 days before the Fromme incident — in connection with the theft of the television set. They pleaded guilty to that charge and were sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

They were arraigned there last month by a U.S. magistrate on charges of threatening the President and are being held in lieu of $100,000 bail each.

The alleged plot came to light the day after their arrest in Santa Barbara when DeSure allegedly told Detective Robert Zapata about the plan. Zapata said he had "built up a rapport" with DeSure, who "told me they had a plot to assassinate the President."

Zapata said DeSure had not disclosed any motive for the alleged plot — "I don't think he really has any strong political convictions.... When you try to talk to him about his political views, he doesn't really have any strong political convictions that I can see."

The indictment alleged that DeSure and Mayo planned to plant a bomb in a sewer near the California state Capitol during Ford's visit. DeSure "would detonate the explosives and stand as a lookout" while Mayo "would fire a shot at the president," the indictment charged.

A Justice Department official in Los Angeles said it is believed that the explosion was to be a diversion.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John J. Resich Jr., said the pair tentatively are set for arraignment Oct. 28 and would be tried in Los Angeles.

The alleged plot was the third involving Ford in the past two months. In addition to the attempt by Miss Fromme in Sacramento Sept. 5, Sara Jane Moore, 45, was arrested in San Francisco Sept. 22 and charged with firing a shot at the President as he left a hotel.

DeSure and Mayo each were charged with conspiring to assassinate the President, which carries a maximum term of life in prison, and with threatening the President, which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Ohio Senate eyes fuel clauses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate was expected to approve today a consumer-oriented bill requiring state regulation of fuel adjustments through which electric companies have automatically passed on increased costs to customers.

State senators returned for a special one-day clean-up session.

Majority Democrats planned attempts to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' vetoes of a public employees right-to-strike bill and a measure requiring installation of smoke detectors in high rise apartment buildings and condominiums.

Rep. Ronald H. James, D-92 Proctorville, sponsor of the fuel bill, said the amended plan recommended by the Senate Energy and Environment Committee Monday was an improvement over the House version.

"It's much better for the consumer," he said.

James pointed specifically to a deleted section that would have forced the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to hold rate hearings whenever an electric utility passed through 15 per cent or more in cost increases over a six-month period. "Those would be rubber stamp hearings," he said.

The streamlined plan says the utilities must note on service bills when adjustments reach 15 per cent and notify customers of the next rate hearing. Hearings on the validity of existing fuel adjustment clauses would be held every six months on a staggered basis for all Ohio's eight investor-owned electric utilities.

Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, chairman of the energy committee, said the bill probably would not result in lower rates, but would assure consumers that fuel costs were being "closely monitored" by the PUCO the state regulatory body.

Companies that could not justify their fuel rates at the biannual hearings would be ordered to provide refunds to customers or could have their adjustment rate disallowed, depending on the specific case, O'Shaughnessy said.

The PUCO has reported that $524 million was added to customers' bills last year by gas and electric companies virtually without regulation as a result of fuel adjustment clauses. The bill does not apply to gas companies which are all regulated by the Federal Power Commission.

Here are the key provisions of the legislation as it went to the Senate floor:

—Limits costs that may be passed through to customers to delivery and purchase of fuel for electric power.

—Requires electric companies to submit to PUCO at least two annual reports and two monthly reports on fuel costs and purchasing procedures.

—Requires PUCO to conduct an annual audit of fuel purchases by electric utilities.

—Mandates that monthly electric bills must list separately the cost of delivery and acquisition of fuel and any adjustment in rates from the previous month.

Democrats have enough votes in the Senate to override both of the governor's vetoes, but the strike bill would still have to go to the Ohio House.

A successful attempt on the smoke detector bill would complete legislative action and mark the first time Rhodes has been bypassed by the General Assembly in almost nine years in office.

The 21-12 Democratic majority in the Senate is one over the three-fifths needed to override. House Democrats are one vote short of a veto-proof majority and Rhodes rejection of the public employees strike legislation is expected to stand in the lower chamber.

The House set a skeleton session today, precluding any substantive action since a quorum will not be present.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Don Wildermuth

MOUNT STERLING — Mrs. Anna May Wildermuth, 72, wife of Don Wildermuth, Rt. 3, Orient, died in her residence Tuesday morning.

Surviving besides her husband, Don, are five sons, James and Gary of Waverly, Jack of Detroit, Mich., Steve of Columbus and Harry, serving with the USAF in London, England; six daughters, Mrs. Charles (Marilyn) Armstrong of Waverly, Mrs. Hank (Phyllis) Adler of Chillicothe, Mrs. Rudy (Ann) Buzenski and Mrs. Arthur (Mary) Patton, both of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. John (Kathryn) Rinehart of Grove City, and Mrs. John (Sally) Dean of Columbus.

There are also 33 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Wahneta Frasier of Lancaster; and one brother, Sam Cresswell of Fairport.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Porter Funeral Home, Mount Sterling, with burial in Pleasant Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

CHILLICOTHE — Private services will be held Thursday in the Ware Funeral Home, Chillicothe, for Robert M. Newkirk, 70, of 86 Rogers Parkway, Chillicothe, with the Rev. James Mitchell and Pastor Harlan Alspach officiating.

Mr. Newkirk, former manager for Albers Super Markets, served as manager of the Washington C.H. Albers store on S. Hinde St. He died at 12:40 p.m. Sunday in the Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe, and had been ill since April. He also was a retired employe of Picks Buick and Oldsmobile agency, a member of Elks Lodge No. 52, past member and past master of Singing Sprinks Masonic Lodge 365.

Surviving is his wife, the former Thetta E. Vance; a daughter, Mrs. William B. (Phyllis) Thomas of Nashville, Ind.; a son, Robert V. of Dayton; four grandsons; one brother, S. Jerome Newkirk of Belfast; and a sister, Mrs. Homer (Lucille) Curlette of Dayton.

Friends may call at the Ware Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Wednesday, where the Elks Lodge will conduct a service at 7 p.m., and the Chillicothe Masonic Lodge will conduct services at 7:30 p.m.

Graveside services will be conducted by Masonic Lodge 365 in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Fred Guy

Friends here have learned of the death on Friday of Fred Guy, 73, of Lima, former manager for Albers Super Market for 20 years, and former manager at the Chillicothe Albers Store. His wife, Rhea, survives.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Siferd Westwood Chapel, Lima. Burial was in Salem Westminster Cemetery.

MRS. ADA MCCOY — Services for Mrs. Ada McCoy, 88, of St. Cloud, Fla., formerly of the Bloomingburg community, were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C.H., with the Rev. Allen Puffenberger officiating. Mrs. McCoy, who moved to Florida four years ago, died Wednesday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Bloomingburg Cemetery were Jack and Jim McCoy, Buryl Kelley, Clark Thompson, Keith Zimmerman, Leon Beekman, Danny Kirkpatrick and Paul Huff.

JEFFREY S. BURCHETT — Services for Jeffrey S. Burchett, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Locey, 106 E. Paint St., were held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home, Washington C.H., with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. The youth, a student at Cherry Hill Elementary School, died Wednesday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery were Tony and John Grooms, William Mastin and Daniel Joseph.

Knievel promotes big jump

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Motorcycle jumper-showman Evel Knievel rolls into Indianapolis today to drum up interest in his planned jump of 14 buses Saturday at an amusement park in Ohio.

The jump is first since the Butte, Mont. native tumbled after leaping 13 buses at Wembley stadium in May.

Before Knievel jumped into the public fancy, Butte's biggest attraction was a gaping pit mine that threatened to swallow the town.

Knievel, known as Bobby in the copper mining city where his father and uncle own an imported car dealership, is to appear at a cocktail party today for newsmen.

Before his highly promoted — and ill-fated — attempted jump of Idaho's Snake River Canyon last September, Knievel was fond of waving an alleged $6 million advance check from the stunt's promoter. After his steam-powered "sky cycle" dropped by parachute into the Snake River, Knievel admitted that the check was a publicity gimmick.

Besides being ill-fated the jump was upstaged by the announcement that former President Richard M. Nixon had been pardoned of any crimes he might have committed while president.

Ford campaign office burgled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of an attempted burglary at the offices of President Ford's campaign committee stirred memories of Watergate, but officials quickly discounted any comparisons.

Lester R. Benjamin, accountant for the President Ford Committee, reported finding two jimmy-bar marks on a file cabinet when he unlocked it Monday morning. But whoever tried to pry the cabinet open was unsuccessful and nothing was taken, he said.

The heavy-duty cabinet contained checks, cash and financial records but no political documents, according to Benjamin and Robert Visser, general counsel for the committee.

"We can't presume the burglar had any political motivations," Visser said. "There is no indication that this was any kind of a political attempt to do anything."

Visser said police concurred. Nevertheless, the attempted break-in evoked memories of the burglary of the Democratic National Committee offices at the Watergate complex on June 17, 1972 — an event which ultimately led to the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon.

Five men were arrested in the Watergate burglary, which proved to have been planned by officials of the Committee to Re-Elect the President. In addition to attempting to photograph political records, their mission was to remove listening devices previously implanted in telephones.

By contrast to the nighttime Watergate burglary, Visser theorized that the attempt to open the file cabinet at the Ford committee offices in a downtown Washington office building could have occurred during the daytime when staff members and some workmen were in the offices.

He said the committee is on a seven-day week and six to 15 staff members worked both days of the weekend.

Several workmen also were in the offices, which are undergoing a major revamping that includes the moving of walls and relocation of electrical and telephone outlets.

There was no sign of forced entry on the office doors or any other cabinets, including those which contain political records, Visser said. He said the locked cabinet is the only one of its kind in the offices.

Visser said the committee's security precautions were under review at the time of the incident and that proposals for changes are expected soon from the firm handling security for the building's owners.

Ford home with cold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fever from a sinus infection and cold caused President Ford to cancel his appointments today and plan to stay away from his office for a second day.

Under treatment that included an antibiotic, a decongestant, aspirin and rest, the President sent word through his press secretary, Ron Nessen, Monday evening:

"I feel much better.... I haven't slept this much in my life."

White House physician William Lukash ordered a second day of curtailed activities for Ford after the President's fever continued to be "a little above 100" degrees.

Creech murders attention-getter?

WALLACE, Idaho (AP) — Thomas E. Creech, who is on trial here for two slayings and has claimed to have killed 42 persons, began misbehaving in childhood because he preferred a spanking to no attention at all, a psychiatrist has testified.

Dr. Michael Estess of Boise added that "the badder he is now, the more reward he gets."

He added that Creech is inclined to make "patently absurd and relatively sensational" statements about himself to gain attention. Estess, called as a rebuttal witness for the state, said Creech's claims of involvement in human sacrifices with Satan-worshippers are probably not true.

Many of his claims have been discounted by police officers who have been unable to find any trace of victims. But bodies have been found in Nevada and Wyoming on information given by Creech, and he is charged with two murders in Oregon.

Creech's first-degree murder case was expected to go to the jury late today.

Estess and Dr. F. LaMarr Heyrend, also of Boise, who was the last defense witness, agreed that Creech is very dangerous.

Heyrend said he examined Creech several times under the influence of sodium amytal — a so-called truth serum — and hypnosis. He said he determined that Creech lacks feeling for others and "is lacking in moral standards, making him very dangerous."

He said he also found that Creech has never been able to relate to other persons, does not consider consequences, is guided by pleasure and cannot show remorse.

Defense attorney Bruce O. Robinson said in his opening statement that he would base Creech's defense on mental defect or disease. Heyrend and Estess said they could find none of significance.

Creech, 25, is in the third week of his trial. He is accused of shooting two

Stocks post broad gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced broadly today, getting more mileage out of the big jump recorded Monday in the nation's Gross National Product.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.51 at 847.76. Gainers held a 3-1 advantage over losers in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said investors still were responding favorably to the GNP report, which showed the biggest rise in 20 years for the broad measure of economic activity during the third quarter.

G.D. Searle topped the active list on the Big Board, up 3/4 at 16 1/4. A 352,500-share block changed hands at 16.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .46 to 83.73.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks gained .40 to 47.92.

Guidance on Watergate

The final report from the Watergate special prosecutor's office is not notable for providing fresh insights into the scandal which rocked the nation and sent a president in ignominious flight from the White House. It does provide a valuable historic summary of the affair, and a number of recommendations for courses of action meant to guard against any such national trauma in the future.

It should be noted that those who expected further disclosures as to the role of then President Nixon in the Watergate coverup, and activities which made a coverup necessary, also are disappointed. One is left with the disturbing thought that some things are left unilluminated and unexplained.

A valid point as to this was made, however, by Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth Jr. as the report was released. Further details about Nixon's involvement could not be made public, he said, without possibly damaging the reputations of others: "Evidence about Nixon is Nixon talking to other people."

As to fears that the disgraced former president may somehow effect a kind of cosmetic rehabilitation and emerge again as a major public figure, Ruth said: "Somehow people think this gentleman, Mr. Nixon, is going to pop up again; somehow the record is going to disappear. It's really up to people to analyze the record that's already there and make up their minds for themselves."

This applies to the report as a whole. Most people will not peruse it, will not even find it ready to hand. But all conscientious citizens have some obligation to consider the highlights of the report as carried in news accounts - to freshen their memories of what transpired, and address themselves to what might be done to prevent a recurrence.

Ruth and his associates offer a set of wide-ranging proposals to this end. They would bar high-level presidential campaign aides from serving as attorney general, require clear and open policy as to the boundaries of "national security" powers; they call upon Congress to exercise close policy oversight over the nation's intelligence agencies, and bar such agencies from becoming involved as part of the president's political apparatus. They seek a further tightening of campaign contributions law, and would broaden the Federal Elections Commission's authority to cover campaign conduct standards and investigation of tactics.

These and other recommendations may not include everything that needs doing. They do give Congress some guidance from people who have been intimately involved in getting to the bottom of this complex matter. Now it is up to Congress, notwithstanding that an election year is at hand, to act constructively.

THESE DAYS By John Chamberlain

Some questions for Mr. Moynihan

THE UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (KFS) — Daniel Moynihan, the chief U.S. delegate to the UN, is proving himself a most adroit spokesman for American interests at the 30th UN session. But it is one thing to deal with an IDI Amin of Uganda, who believes in such absurdities as the Protocols of the Elders of Zion, and quite another to handle some of the more subtle proponents of what, in the UN lounge rooms, is called "the New International Economic Order."

How, for instance, does one reply to the address made at the UN General Assembly last week by the President of Mexico, Luis Echeverria Alvarez? Echeverria spoke politely, talking in approving generalities about the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, but he left one with no illusions about his specific meanings. He expects the raw materials producing nations to get good money for what they have to sell. Moreover, the price "must be considered not only in monetary terms but also with regard to inflation and in accordance with the prices of manufactured goods."

Since Mexico has oil and minerals, no one can object to President Echeverria standing up for his own national interest as well as the interests of the Third World as a whole. And one must applaud him when he shows that he has an even larger community than Mexico or the Third World in mind. He expects high prices will force the industrial countries to "organize a scientific revolution in the field of energy," which is surely what is going to happen. The revolution will benefit everybody.

So far, Moynihan could have no legitimate reason for complaint about the Echeverria portent. There is no reason why a Mexico, or an Iran, or a Kuwait, or a Peru should stand idly by while the industrialized countries of the U.S., Japan and Europe attempt to deflate at the Third World's expense. But Moynihan might well have cocked a querulous eye at Echeverria's suggestion to the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries that they put a stop "to the superfluous investments made in the old metropolises."

What such a suggestion amounts to is a declaration of economic war on New York, London, Frankfurt and Zurich that would certainly not help the technologically advanced countries to achieve that "scientific revolution in the field of energy" which Echeverria professes to welcome. If there is to be no continual recycling of the "new profitability" from oil, the financial underpinning needed for an energy revolution must be lost to that part of the world that is uniquely fitted to carry it out in the shortest time possible. The Third World has a selfish interest in keeping Western inventors busy in their shops and laboratories even if it has no stake in maintaining the Westerner's standard of living at Cadillac or Rolls-Royce levels.

Moynihan might also point to a logical discrepancy in Echeverria's advocacy of a World Food Bank. Food, in the form of grains and soybeans, happens to be the one plentiful U.S. raw material.

There is a frequently forgotten relation between food and the oil that doesn't get stored in a World Oil Bank. It takes energy, and lots of it, to run the tractors and the combines needed to plant and harvest the wheat that goes abroad. It takes energy to build grain elevators and freight cars and ships.

If the American farmer can't sell his product, he won't be able to carry his mortgage or finance his fertilizer purchases. The give-away mentality is the enemy of production.

It may sound hard-hearted to speak of food in terms of what Eliot Janeway calls "agripower." Where there is famine, and where the means exist for getting food to people instead of to the rats and insects that infest foreign docks and railroad sidings, generous Americans can always be counter on to give away some of this power. But when such organizations as Eugene Carson Blake's Bread for the World argue that everybody has a right to food, do they carry their logic through to the point of saying that every farmer has a right to petroleum-based fertilizer and tractor fuel? They do not.

If we are to have a World Food Bank, let the oil exporting nations contribute their share toward its financing. Moynihan, who, as Ambassador to India, saw Indians being starved for both food and fertilizer, might base a preachment on that.

4-day school week boon to students

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — On a Tuesday while most of her sophomore high school friends were in class, Diane Arndt was home making herself a skirt.

At the same time, her sister Joanne, a senior, was back in school after waiting on tables at a fashionable restaurant Monday to make some spending money.

The two sisters weren't skipping school. They were taking Stillwater High School's new four-day week in stride.

The school operates Monday through Friday, as usual, but each pupil goes only four days. Each day is stretched out an hour to 7½ hours.

It's the latest major experiment in Minnesota schools, brought on by an increasing enrollment coupled with limited classroom space and a lack of money for new construction.

School officials selected the four-day system as the best alternative after voters rejected three bond issues in four years.

Shrewsbury, Mass., resorted to a similar plan earlier.

From contacts with school administrators, teachers, pupils and parents in Stillwater, these observations can be made:

—Administrators find the system is generally working well, although they admit there are some "bugs" and it means more work for them.

—Teachers are more apt to have some classes of 30 to 35-pupils than 15 to 20, and they may "spin their wheels" at some sessions because they can't inject new lessons when some youths are on their day off.

—Pupils count it a mixed blessing. There is more free time for recreation, outside work and special-interest studies. But the four-day operation means less flexibility in scheduling. Pupils are apt to go through the day with the same set of pupils, meaning their social contacts are limited. And they may find the schedule deprives them of an elective course they'd like to take.

Starting this fall, students attend classes on their four days from 7:50 a.m. to 3:50 p.m., with a half hour for lunch. It's enough to meet the state's required minimum of 1,050 hours per school year.

The high school was forced into the innovative program because, while many school districts in the nation report declining enrollments because of a lower birth rate, the enrollment at Stillwater has climbed at all levels.

That's because it's located 20 miles northeast of St. Paul, and there's plenty of room in the scenic 150-square mile district to absorb metropolitan emigration.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: I HAVE GREAT FAITH IN FOOLS — SELF-CONFIDENCE MY FRIENDS CALL IT.—EDGAR ALLAN POE

(© 1975 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Gal's boss
barters holidays

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office with three other girls. I am the only one who's Jewish.)

I asked my boss if I could have one day off for the Jewish New Year since this is the holiest of all holy days for me.

He said, "Yes, if you come in on Christmas to make up for it."

He's quite a kiddier, but I'm not sure he was kidding.

What do you think?

DEAR ROSIE: He was probably kidding-unless your office is open on Christmas.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old girl who got myself into a mess I can't get out of.

My best girl friend's father (I'll call him "Pops") had a real nice car for sale. I've been out of work for a long time and I needed one, so Pops offered to sell me the car for sex.

I'm not a bad girl, but I figured, for once, why not?

Well, I got the car and the papers, and I gave Pops the first "installments" of sex, and now he's in love with me! (I forgot to mention, he's 52, a widower and in pretty good shape for his age.)

Pops' daughter is leaving her husband because she found out he's gay and her father offered to let us stay at his house. We're both broke and have no place to go, but I'm afraid if I move in, it will be hard to move out.

Pops has asked me to marry him, which I could never do, but I hate to hurt his feelings. Also, I don't want to spoil the relationship between him and his daughter.

I could sure use some advice.

DEAR MESS: Your refusal to marry "Pops" should in no way damage the relationship between him and his daughter. DON'T move into his house. He might expect you to pay the rent the same way you're paying off the car, and you'd be there indefinitely. The advice from here is to get a respectable job, go to work and quit bartering your body.

DEAR ABBY: We own a dog that is always kept on a leash when he's put outside.

Our neighbor has cats that are allowed to roam freely outside and onto our property. They tease the dog, causing him to bark until we put the cats back on their own property.

We have had anonymous phone calls informing us that our dog's barking is disturbing the entire neighborhood. Abby, if those cats didn't tantalize the dog, he wouldn't bark.

What do you suggest? We've complained to the cat owners, but they still turn their cats loose on our property.

DEAR FUMING: Tell the cat owners that if their cats are found on your property, you will ring up the local pound.

Then follow through. One "catastrophe" should do it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TEX" IN DALLAS: It's much easier to forgive an enemy after you get even with him, isn't it?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Oct. 21, the 294th day of 1975. There are 71 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1805, an English fleet under Lord Nelson defeated French and Spanish fleets off Spain's Cape of Trafalgar, ending Napoleon's power on the seas.

On this date:
In 1797, the U.S. frigate Constitution, known as Old Ironsides, was launched at Boston.

In 1879, Thomas Edison invented a workable electric lamp at his laboratory in Menlo Park, N.J.

In 1938, the Japanese captured the Chinese city of Canton.

In 1944, the first large German city to fall to the Allies in World War II, Aachen, was captured by U.S. troops.

In 1945, women voted for the first time in France.

In 1967, thousands of demonstrators against the Vietnam War stormed the Pentagon in Washington, and at least 250 arrests were made.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson returned to the White House from Bethesda Naval Hospital, 13 days after an operation for removal of his gall bladder.

Five years ago: The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to the American scientist who launched the so-called "Green Revolution" to help feed the world's poor, Norman Borlaug.

One year ago: President Ford and President Luis Echeverria of Mexico met at the Mexico-Arizona border and discussed, among other things, the problem of illegal Mexican immigrants.

Today's birthday: Former New York Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford is 47 years old.

Thought for today: If you want to save money, don't eat anything. This advice is impractical, but so is most good advice — Ed Howe, American writer, 1853-1937.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

This could be an extremely telling day in your life. You should have high hopes and new incentives. Generate enthusiasm commensurate with past "best performances."

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Teamwork will be important during this period, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

You can make this a bright day by capitalizing on your outgoing and pleasing personality. Use your versatility and ingenuity in revitalizing, firming things up.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over ideas.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Influences fairly favorable, but don't consider all decisions made now as final. You may have to revise later in the week.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

By going along with your associates, you can further your own plans as well. As with Taurus, it's a day when teamwork will pay satisfying dividends.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A time for evaluation, to find missing links, details hidden to the casual eye, to change a course which is leading to a dead end. And to go on from there!

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Good Mars influences favor innovations and clever strategies. A fine period in which to put over unusual ideas.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Someone may try to place a burdensome imposition on you. Reject what you consider unfair, but graciously offer alternatives for handling.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mild influences indicate a so-so day unless you do something about it. But, in your search for more stimulating activities, don't go off on wild tangents.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stumbling blocks to progress will be indecisiveness and missed opportunity. Key yourself to deliberate smartly and quickly so that you may reach proper conclusions.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Interpret carefully where you sense hidden meanings. All of them are NOT deceptive; some may simply need clarification.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with remarkable intuition, great understanding of the needs and wants of others and the skill to handle even the most complicated affairs. Your strength of purpose, objective thinking and artistry are outstanding. Faults: inordinate pride, stubbornness and bitterness in the face of opposition. Curb! You make able inventors, musicians, dramatists, critics and entertainers.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Ray Cathode, a leading television expert, has just published a major work called "Dr. Cathode's Glossary of Television Terms — A Guide to Understanding Network Television."
As a public service, we'd like to lay on you some definitions the good doctor says he's found used within the networks. They fall into various categories, such as:
GENERAL PROGRAMS AND PRACTICES
—Bold, innovative new programming: A publicity statement that precedes cancellations of new series in October. It is followed by the ignition of ejection seats in at least five executive swivel chairs.
—Family hour: That period when the family turns off the set, has dinner, then returns to the set just in time for "Starsky and Hutch."
—A prestigious series: Any show made in New York by a British producer.
—Ratings: A system devised one day when no one in the programming department could find the ouija board.
PRESS RELATIONS
—Critic: An ill-informed churl who eats your food, drinks your Scotch, smokes up your screening room and raps your show.
—Review: An essay to be regarded with distrust, as it is written by someone who gets paid for griping.
ALTERNATIVE VIEWING
—Public television: An American system created to give wider exposure to dramas from the British Broadcasting Corp.

—Pay-TV: Grumble, grumble, grumble, grumble.
NETWORK EXECUTIVES
—Senior vice president: An officer of raw, unbridled ambition.
—President: An officer who gets to go to Beverly Hills even when the affiliates aren't meeting there. At such times, he leaves an executive vice president in New York to watch the senior vice president.
—Executive vice president: An officer who is loyal, trustworthy and extremely adept at hiding his raw, unbridled ambition.
SATURDAY MORNING
—Children's television: An area of bitter dispute in which no child is allowed to take part.
NEWS
—Anchorman: A gentleman reporter who gets to work his own hour.
—Correspondent: A member of the elite in electronic journalism. In a crowd of reporters, he is the only one wearing new shoes.
—Hard-hitting documentary: A news special which network lawyers haven't yet seen.
—Thoughtful, well-balanced news special: A hard-hitting documentary which network lawyers have seen.
LAST MOMENTS
—Signoff: That which once featured prayer, film of jet fighters and the playing of the national anthem. It now features crashing drums, leaping singers and the closing credits of a rock concert.

Economic data questions asked

NEW YORK (AP) — Questions being asked about the economy:
—Is the big increase in Gross National Product for the third quarter of the year a forerunner of things to come?
While some professional observers say the third-quarter figures show the economy is surging ahead, others are expressing doubts. They tend not to rely as they once did on the authenticity of statistics.
Some critics say the GNP figures are distorted by more inflation than we seem to realize. That is, what appears to be a husky surge of output really contains a lot of bloated.
Others comment that much of the production simply is going into the rebuilding of depleted inventories and that unless consumer buying improves many of the goods will remain right there in inventories.
Don Conlon, former economist for the Cost of Living Council and now executive vice president of a consulting organization, Capital Strategic Services, is telling clients not to expect any positive growth in GNP for the final quarter of the year.
—Will steel producers be able to make their prices stick?
The Council on Wage and Price Stability has already expressed the opinion that recent increases in steel prices were unjustified in terms of market conditions. They suggested prices might have to fall.

Another economic condition now might add to downward pressures. The U.S. economy is recovering faster than the economies of Japan and European nations.
That raises the possibility that, unable to maintain sales in their own countries, foreign steelmakers will ship increasing amounts of their product here and force American producers to lower their prices.
In times past it wasn't uncommon for the domestic steel industry to seek governmental protection from imports in the form of tariffs, and there is some industry pressure for doing so again.
However, the Council on Wage and Price Stability has already forewarned the industry that it cannot hope to obtain protection while maintaining prices higher than what the council feels the market calls for.
—Will foreign investors in U.S. securities be scared away by recent bankruptcies of American corporations and by the possible default on its bond obligations by New York City?
Money surged into Wall Street early this year, tapered off, and recently showed signs of rising again. That isn't proof that the flow will continue to increase, but it certainly is a comment on conditions elsewhere.
The fact is that the U.S. economy, despite its problems, appears stronger than that of many other industrial countries.

Ohio Perspective

Issue No. 2 bait for industry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Of the four economic proposals Gov. James A. Rhodes has on Ohio's Nov. 4 ballot, Issue No. 2 giving major tax breaks to industry, is the one he feels would do more to fight Ohio's welfare problem.

The Republican governor, while saying all of his proposed amendments are vital as a package, indicates he regards this issue as the biggest in terms of providing jobs for Ohioans.

He said that by making Ohio's industrial tax climate more attractive, new plants will come into the state and those already here will expand, providing 500,000 new jobs in the next five years.

A principal opponent, the million-member Ohio AFL-CIO, claims the issue would encourage plants to switch to automation, eliminating jobs, and at the same time necessitate new taxes to make up for revenues lost to local taxing units, mostly school districts.

Under Issue 2, the governor proposes to forgive tangible personal property, as well as corporate franchise taxes, for industries locating in inner cities of critical need for a period of 30 years. The same tax exemptions would be provided for industries locating elsewhere in the state, except that they would be for only 15 years.

Additionally, the amendment would permit existing industries to exempt annually from their tangible personal property taxes half of the value of new capital equipment installed from one tax year to the next. They also could exempt the same value from their corporate franchise taxes.

The AFL-CIO's executive board addresses itself in particular to that part of the amendment that permits existing industry to take a 50 per cent deduction for new equipment. It points out that the exemption has no time limit, and instead would continue "forever," or at least as long as it remained a part of the constitution.

In a statement, the board said the proposal might encourage a plant, such as a steel mill, to "throw out" old equipment and go to automation that could throw "hundreds out of work ..."

It said workers would become unemployed and cease to be taxpayers to city governments and school districts.

Rhodes counters those arguments by claiming that the package of tax incentives would provide new jobs that would bolster collections of the income, sales, and related taxes that are shared by the state with its local governments.

The governor's campaign for Issue 2 and the rest of his package has been built around his contention that the alternatives are millions more of the taxpayers' dollars for welfare with little hope of stemming the rise of unemployment and crime.

Chan Cochran, Rhodes' administrative assistant, said in conversations with the governor the latter declined to say that any one of his four amendments was less important than the other.

But he said Rhodes on repeated occasions has said that he feels making a significant inroad into the problems of welfare was the one major item no one has been able to accomplish during his (Rhodes') long public career. "He feels the way to do it, as he has said many times, is to create jobs," Cochran said.

David C. Sweet, director of development during the administration of former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan, claims the $1 million campaign on behalf of the four Rhodes ballot issues ignores "the fact that taxation is far down the list" of priorities among industries considering a site for a new plant. Instead, he said they look more at educational opportunities for workers' children, living space, and other factors not likely to be found in so-called "critical need" areas.

Sweet now serves as a Democratic member of the Public Utilities Commission by virtue of an 11th hour Gilligan appointment.

Those pushing for approval of the tax abatement issue include the same organizations backing the entire Rhodes package, among them building and construction trades unions, the Ohio Contractors Association, and especially the powerful Ohio Manufacturing Association which sees it as a boon to their industry.

A coalition of six state organizations is leading the opposition. It includes the Ohio AFL-CIO—except for federations that include Cleveland and Dayton areas which are in favor—the United Auto Workers' political action CAP council, the League of Women Voters, the Ohio Council of Churches, the Sierra Club, and the Ohio Senior Citizens Council.

Rhodes claims the opposition of state labor leaders runs counter to the feelings of the vast majority of the rank-and-file union members, mainly those without jobs. "We used a lot of them in our (television) commercials. They're going to steal if they can't find jobs to support their families," the governor asserted.

Ford leader in opinion poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Opinion Research reports a sampling it took of 909 eligible voters indicates President Ford would easily defeat four leading Democrats in Ohio if the election were held today.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., made the strongest showing of the Democrats with 36.2 per cent to Ford's 44.4 per cent. Some 13.1 per cent of those polled said they probably would not vote and 6.3 per cent said they were undecided.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama drew 28.7 per cent to 49.6 per cent for Ford, while Sens. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Henry Jackson of Washington were favored by one in four of those asked their preference.

Ohio Opinion Research is an independent project of the Survey Research Service in Ohio State University's Behavioral Sciences Laboratory.

Small wonder.

Conner Farm Women name new officers

Mrs. Sam B. Marting entertained the Conner Farm Woman's Club with a carry-in luncheon at the Marting Lodge. After the luncheon president Mrs. R. Carleton Belt opened the meeting by reading "Only October Knows the Fall Rhythm of the Year".

Mrs. Robert Pero, chaplain, gave devotions by reading "Life Takes a Little Nerve" followed by the Prayer of St. Francis. The Club Creed was repeated by the members. During the roll call in charge of Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars, each member responded by giving a poem on spring, birds, trees, or flowers. Mrs. Sollars read the minutes and gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Otties Smith made the report of the nominating committee, and the new officers for the coming year are: President - Mrs. Barton Montgomery; vice president - Mrs. Robert Pero; secretary - Mrs. Lorain Morter; assistant secretary-treasurer - Mrs. Maryon Mark; news reporter - Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger; assistant - Mrs. Edgar Wilson; chaplain - Mrs. R. Carleton Belt; and assistant - Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

Mrs. Pero gave the report of the calendar committee members for the coming year. Mrs. Heber Deer, chairman; Mrs. Morter, Mrs. Job Burris, Mrs. Joe Palmer, Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, Mrs. Barton Montgomery, and Mrs. Pero.

The flower and cards committee are Mrs. Otties Smith and Mrs. Robert I. Case, and the membership committee is composed of Mrs. Marion L. Waddle and Mrs. Russell Lanman.

Mrs. Deer announced the Club Christmas Dutch treat luncheon will be held at 1 p.m. December 18, at the Terrace Lounge. She also stated she had tickets to sell for the Church Women United luncheon to be held November 7th. Communications were read by Mrs. Sollars from Mrs. Robert I. Case, and the Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe. It was voted to purchase coupon books for the hospital at Christmas time, and to contribute to the Heart Fund in memory of Karen Case.

A most interesting talk was given by Mrs. Marting on her recent travels throughout the United States, Mexico, Canada, British Columbia, and the Canadian Rockies. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars, with Mrs. Larin Morter, program chairman.

Mrs. George Durnell and Mrs. Robert Garland were guests with the members. Mrs. Belt, Mrs. Orville Bush, Mrs. Kenneth Bush, Mrs. Robert D. Coffman, Mrs. Heber Deer, Mrs. Maryon Mark, Mrs. Marting, Mrs. Joe Palmer, Mrs. Robert Pero, Mrs. Otties Smith, Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars, Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, Mrs. Orville Waddle, Mrs. Millard H. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cook observe 55th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cook St. of Jeffersonville observed their 55th wedding anniversary Sunday with a family dinner at Duff's in Wilmington. Those enjoying the day with them were Mrs. Virginia Snyder, Scott, Todd, Darrin and Mike Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Overly and Lori Jo all of Washington C.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cook Jr. and son Joey of Jeffersonville; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cook and Cheryl and John, Jack Unangst, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fife and Jason, all of South Vienna;

Also Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming and sons Kevin and Chris of New Moorfield; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Cook and son Wesley Allen of Springfield; Mr.

and Mrs. Edward Gahn and daughters, Tammy and Tracy of Chillicothe;

Mr. and Mrs. Jim D. Cook and sons, Tim and Chris, and daughter, Jennifer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barrett, all of Leesburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellis of Dayton.

They then all returned to the Cook home and spent the afternoon visiting.

Mr. Cook and the former Mildred Ellis were married Oct. 21, 1920, at the M. P. parsonage in Jeffersonville by the late Rev. McKinnon and have resided most of their married lives except seven years in Bowersville.

Mr. Cook retired from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad in 1966 after 46 years of service.

'Women of the Bible' chosen for study by McNair Women

McNair Presbyterian Women's Association met in the home of Mrs. Charles Wood with Mrs. John Warnecke assisting hostess. Mrs. Wood, president, opened the meeting with "So Swift - So Short the Day" by Helen Steiner Rice. She also read the sewing assignment for 1976.

Eleven members answered roll call with what each liked best about the fall season, and reports were read and approved.

Mrs. Hazel Hidy gave a report on 'Sewing Day' held at the church Oct. 9, and reports were given by those attending workshops in Greenfield - Mrs. Martin O'Cull, missions; Mrs. Pauline Scott, communications; Mrs. Hazel Hidy, Bible Study; and Mrs. Wood, administration.

"Women of the Bible" will be the Bible study topic for this year. Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas party. The November meeting and bazaar will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Keaton with Mrs. Wilbur Bullock the assisting hostess.

It was agreed to give a donation to the leprosy fund. Mrs. Ivan Kelley presented a beautiful reading, "Living One Day at a Time" and other articles.

The Lord's Prayer was given in unison for the closing, and during the social hour a 'cookie exchange' was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Jenny Adams Circle meets

Mrs. Mabel McCoy and her daughter, Jean, welcomed 17 members of the Jenny Adams Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church to their home for the October meeting.

Mrs. Frank Reno, chairman, opened with prayer and for roll call each gave a promise from the Bible. Mrs. Ralph Wolford gave devotions using "Goodness of the Lord" for her theme. She also read Psalm 33 and stressed the goodness and the poem, "God is in Every Tomorrow."

Chairmen of each division gave reports, and Mrs. John Baker announced the Baptist Women's Day of Prayer at First Baptist for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 3, and also World Day of Prayer for Nov. 7.

The three missionary circles of the church will provide cookies and pies for the Blood Bank Dec. 2.

Mrs. Helen Dowler, program leader, read "Our Creed for Today," and gave a brief review of the life story by Catherine Marshall. She also read "An Answer to Drugs," and closed with "Affirming Our Faith."

A social hour followed and refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Ruth Smith and Mrs. Olive Brookover.

Mrs. Smith club hostess

Mrs. Cecil Smith was hostess to 10 members of the Sunnyside Willing Workers when they assembled in her home recently for a meeting. Mrs. Edgar Richardson conducted the meeting and Mrs. Virgil Sexton presented devotions. Reports were made during the business session and a nominating committee was appointed: Mrs. Gladys Ramey, chairman, Mrs. Faye Montavon and Mrs. Jane Wieland.

Plans were discussed for the Nov. 15 dinner at 5 p.m. at the Blue Drummer (members note the change of time). The group will go to the home of Mrs. Anna Howard afterwards for the business meeting.

Laprobos were made and brought to be distributed to the area nursing homes. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Sexton served refreshments to Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Montavon, Mrs. Ramey, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. Sexton, Mrs. Genevieve Whitmer and Mrs. Viva Johnson.

MTHS Homecoming festivities have 'Freedom Train' theme

A red, white and blue Bicentennial decor prevailed in the decorations with the theme of "Freedom Train" for the Miami Trace High School Homecoming Dance in the Miami Trace High School cafeteria Saturday night.

Students received their 'tickets' for the dance at the depot where Mike Henry, Student Council adviser was ticket agent. Students walked past the diner which was also decorated in red, white and blue streamers and featured a "Train Cake" decorated in the same colors, then entered the cafeteria where the main wall gave the impression of looking out train windows.

Queen Tammy Walters and her escort Jay Crummy led the dance. Her royal court, composed of Tammy Arnold, freshman attendant with Doug Merritt, escort; Michelle Cockerill, junior attendant with Kirk Stuckey, escort; Mary Beth Deer, senior attendant with Eddie DeWeese, escort; and Mitzi Perrill, sophomore attendant, with Mark Davis, escort, presided during the evening festivities. They were 'guarded' by two black panther statues, gifts from the Class of 1975 to MTHS.

The Highway Band played for dancing from 8 to 11:30 p.m. for the approximately 300 guests.

The Queen and her attendants will be presented prior to the game on Friday when the Black Panthers meet the Wilmington Hurricanes.

IS 98 YEARS OLD — Mrs. Eva May Reaster, a resident at the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center, celebrated her 98th birthday Saturday. Ice cream and cake were served when her family and friends assembled for the occasion. Those present were Mrs. Ellen Grieves, Mrs. Eva Jean Aleshire, Mrs. Blanche Reaster, Miss Rosalind Dixon, John Arnold and Michael Aleshire.

'Open house' planned for anniversary

"Open house" is planned from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 26, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon, 2842 Miami Trace Rd., in honor of their silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. Dixon and the former Zella Hafer of Bainbridge, were married Oct. 27, 1950, in the Presbyterian parsonage in Washington C.H.

The Dixons have two daughters, Mrs. Edwin (Linda) Newland and Mrs. Judy Boyer of Washington C.H.; and seven grandchildren. Mr. Dixon is employed by Armco Steel of Washington C.H. and Mrs. Dixon operates Dixon's Clothing Store in Good Hope.

Marriage announced

Thelma Minney of 217 East St. and Russell Eugene Klontz, Pearson-Octa Rd., exchanged marriage vows Oct. 9 in Winchester, Ky. The Rev. L. R. Hopkins officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

A reception took place following the ceremony in the home of the bride's son-in-law and daughter's home, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Wical. Guests present for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. James Minney, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jordan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Camp and sons, Mildred Camp and son, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Camp and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Culwell and daughter.

The couple is residing on the Pearson-Octa Rd.

Dennis backs state tower payoff

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Republican legislator says he would support a plan for the state to pay off in one chunk the $83 million debt Ohio owes on its new 41-story State Office Tower.

But it wouldn't be possible, noted Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, unless GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes'

$2.75 billion bond issue for capital improvements is approved by voters Nov. 4.

Dennis, chairman of the Legislative Budget Committee, mentioned the possible alternative at a Monday meeting at which the office tower's problems—namely $11 million worth of bills—were discussed. Others on the committee, especially House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, were cool to the suggestion.

"I don't think we'd better count on anything like that. I think those issues are in for some tough sledding," said Shoemaker, who referred to a pair of Rhodes bond issues on the ballot which total $4.5 billion.

Shoemaker said he thinks a more likely solution to bail out the tower would be for the legislature to pass a supplemental appropriations bill when it meets next January. But he said such a bill would depend on whether state revenues continue a slightly higher-than-expected trend that started during the first quarter of the current biennium.

The tower's current problems include $4 million in state agencies rents that were due last July 1, and $7 million that will be needed next summer to make the first installment on the loan with which the building was erected. The $83 million was borrowed from the workmen's compensation fund, an outlay made up of contributions by Ohio's employers to compensate workers injured on the job.

Dennis and others noted that the pending Rhodes bond issue makes $145 million available for state capital improvements. Administrative Services Director Richard Krabach said that if part was used to pay off the $83 million, the state could realize an estimated interest savings of $50 million over the next 30 years.

At the same time, the payoff would enable the Ohio Building Authority—which constructed the office tower—to obtain additional loans for construction of state facilities where deemed needed by the state in any area of Ohio.

The OBA is permitted under law to borrow up to 10 per cent of the workmen's compensation fund for construction projects—an amount now obligated by the office tower.

LEAVING IN THE RAIN — Thirty-five senior citizens departed from the Fayette County Senior Citizens headquarters, 723 Delaware St., at 7 a.m. Monday to travel east, seeing such historic places as Valley Forge and Philadelphia, Pa. Stops were planned along the way in Amish country in Pennsylvania to visit the people there also. Although they departed in darkness with a cold rain falling, this was by far not enough to dampen their spirits and the excitement which showed in their faces. The trip, arranged by director Mary Francis Snider, cost the participants $140 each. The tour will be guided by W. E. Hash, head of the American Motor Coach tours. The group will return Thursday night. Last year the group ventured to Nashville, Tenn.

Supper scheduled Nov. 8

Good Hope Lions slate sausage, pancake event

GOOD HOPE — Preparations for two annual fund-raising events were launched during the regular meeting of the Good Hope Lions Club in Wayne Township Hall.

The annual pancake and sausage supper will be held from 12 noon until 7 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 8. The event, which features delicious whole hog sausage, will be held in Wayne Township Hall in the Good Hope community. Jim Hagler and Ora Fitzpatrick, who are serving as co-chairmen of the event, said tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Lions Club president John Noble also said the annual fruit cake sale has begun. The project is one of the largest undertaken by the club. The cakes will be sold for $4 each.

Noble said the club will sponsor a 50-50 dance Saturday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds. Music will be provided by the Memory Makers and the dance will be held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Admission is $6 per couple and tickets can be purchased from club members.

The program for the evening was provided by Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson. Sheriff Thompson cited facts and statistics concerning the crime rate in Fayette County and reviewed the variety of investigations handled by the sheriff's department last year.

Arson defendants placed at scene

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Some of the nine defendants on trial for destruction of the main plant of the Sponge Rubber Products Co. in Shelton, Conn., were in the plant shortly before the March 1 explosion, according to a man who has pleaded guilty to charges connected with the incident.

John Shaw, 28, of Pittsburgh testified Monday during U.S. District Court hearings on defense motions to suppress his testimony. The jury and nine defendants were not in the courtroom when he spoke.

On Oct. 7, Shaw changed his plea from innocent to guilty to charges of conspiracy and interstate travel to aid racketeering. Officials said Shaw is expected to testify against the other defendants.

Shaw said he was in the plant with seven other defendants hours before it blew up. He said at least two of the men wore green coveralls and red ski masks.

Defense attorneys questioned Shaw about his motives when he identified pictures for the FBI and state police.

Shaw said that after he was picked up by FBI agents in connection with the fire, he spoke with U.S. Atty. Peter C. Dorsey on the telephone.

"No promises were made," Shaw said in court. "He said there would be charges against me and it was up to me whether or not I wanted to cooperate."

Earlier in the day, FBI agent Roger Amarol testified before the jury that the four-story factory was wired with 2,000 feet of explosive detonating cord. Amarol said the cord apparently was attached to barrels of gasoline and "high explosive charges" throughout the plant.

Chemical analyst Kenneth W. Nimnich testified that tests he took indicated that gasoline was found at the factory.

Among the defendants are Charles Moeller of Criderstown, Ohio, president of Sponge Rubber's parent firm, and the Rev. David Bubar of Memphis, Tenn., who has been a spiritual adviser to Moeller.

Franco fights heart problem

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco developed a heart problem in addition to influenza, but specialists called to the Pardo Palace today said he recovered from the problem during the night, informed sources reported.

The sources said the doctors found that the 82-year-old Spanish chief of state had had an attack of endocarditis, of inflammation of the heart valves.

It was the second report of heart complications during Franco's current illness.

Embargo on grain sales lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — American farmers are now free to sell grain to the Soviet Union following the announcement of long-term U.S.-Russian pacts covering the sale of U.S. grain and the purchase of Soviet oil.

As the embargo was being lifted Monday, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said as much as seven million more metric tons of U.S. grain might be sold to the Soviets this year.

The two-month-old embargo was imposed by President Ford last summer after the Soviets purchased 9.8 million metric tons of grain from American exporters. The embargo stemmed from concern over the impact on U.S. prices that exports could have and some nervousness that predictions of bumper U.S. crops this year might not prove true.

The long-term agreement was hailed in some quarters as the economic equivalent of detente but was criticized by farm organizations as an unprecedented government intervention in agricultural markets.

Ford said the pact would provide stability in U.S.-Soviet trade and help

American workers and consumers. AFL-CIO President George Meany, who last August ordered U.S. longshoremen to boycott Russian-bound grain, said it was "good news for American consumers and farmers."

The future grain exports were expected to have some impact on consumer food prices, though forecasts varied about the magnitude of such price increases.

The agreement: —Lets Russia buy between 6 million and 8 million metric tons of corn and wheat annually, beginning a year from now. There are 2,205 pounds in a metric ton. Officials said the deal will be worth $1 billion a year to the U.S. trade balance. Soybeans and rice were not included in the agreement.

—Gives the United States an escape clause in case of domestic crop failure if the U.S. supply of livestock feed grain dips below 225 million tons. This year's supply is estimated at 263.1 million tons.

—Commits the Russians to try to space their grain purchases and shipments as evenly as possible over each year.

The oil agreement, which is tentative and requires further negotiations later this month, calls for the Soviet Union to offer to sell 200,000 barrels of crude oil and other petroleum products a day over the five-year period.

This amounts to about 3.5 per cent of recent U.S. daily imports. By comparison, the Alaskan pipeline is expected to handle 1.2 million barrels daily during initial operations in 1977.

No oil price was included in the agreement, but Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb hinted at a discount, saying, "We need to have beneficial terms."

Leaders of two major farmers' groups denounced the agreement. Oren Lee Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization, called it "illegal and outrageous interference in agricultural markets."

William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said the agreement established "an apparent trend toward government domination of international trade in agricultural commodities."

Antipollution fight aims at causes

CLEVELAND (AP)—One way to fight inflation and unemployment is to attack the causes—not the symptoms—of industrial pollution, says the government's chief industry clean-up champion.

American industry should be thinking about redesigning production processes not just attaching scrubbers to the ends of smokestacks, said Russell Train, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

"Our economic health and growth, our ability to stabilize prices, our system of energy and environmental resources, all these things ultimately depend upon the ability of industry to continue devising more efficient and less wasteful ways of operating," Train said Monday.

New York City austerity plan to cut $724 million

NEW YORK (AP) — The state's fiscal watchdog committee for deficit-ridden New York City has approved an austerity plan that will cut the city's budget by $724 million over the next three years and slash thousands more municipal workers from the payroll.

Gov. Hugh L. Carey, head of the Emergency Financial Control Board, startled other board members Monday night when he told a meeting of the City Club that 55,000 jobs would be eliminated by 1978.

However, Kenneth Axelsson, deputy mayor for finance, explained, "My understanding of the governor's remarks is that he was talking about the equivalent number of jobs represented by the $724 million."

Except to say that they would "number in the thousands," Axelsson refused to put a figure on this newest round of firings. However, he said, "We hope to wipe out a good portion of the deficit through attrition and the elimination of nonpersonnel items."

The austerity plan, which basically followed the budget-cutting proposals of Mayor Abraham D. Beame, includes a three-year freeze on wages and hiring, large-scale service cuts and an end to new municipal construction.

The Control Board said it was cutting $390 million from the separate capital budget, used to finance construction projects, by 1978.

This year's savings on the $12 billion 1975-76 expense budget were targeted at $200 million.

The budget plan was mandated by the state to rid the city of its deficit and to restore investor confidence in the city's now-shaky credit rating. The city came within hours of default last Friday.

Board approves status for new obstetrician

The Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees has approved associate staff status for Dr. Sheeg-Wu Lin, an obstetrician and gynecologist associated with Dr. K.K. Wong.

The board also authorized Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, to enter into contracts with Ronald Lott, a general psychologist, and Tana Lucas, a speech therapist, to accept hospital referrals. Both are employees of the Miami Trace School District serving in those capacities.

Expenditure of funds in the amount of $354 was approved for equipment and in the amount of $800 for nursing scholarships.

The statistical report for September showed 337 admissions yielding a total of 2,080 in-patient days. There were an average of 69.3 persons in the hospital each day.

The hospital operated at 82.5 per cent occupancy while the percentage in the medical and surgical division was 88.3. The average stay per person was 5.9 days while the average in the medical and surgical division was 6.5 days.

There were 1,271 X-rays taken, 5,949 laboratory tests performed, 322 physical therapies, and 657 inhalation treatments administered.

The emergency room treated 1,260 persons; there were 68 major surgeries and 75 minor surgeries.

The revenue per patient-day this year has been $97.63. The budget called for $94 and the national average is $122.46.

Actual expenses have been $102.02 per patient-day. The budget called for $96.47, and the national average is $120.36. Kunz attributed the difference between the budgeted and actual expenses primarily to the new medical insurance requirement.

The total expense per admission has been $630.07. The budget estimated $573.30 and the national average is $874.52.

Blood runs made

Three blood runs were made by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies to aid patients at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Deputy 'D.L. Cox traveled to the intersection of I-71 and the CCC-Highway-NE at 3:40 p.m. and 7:10 p.m. Monday to meet Franklin County deputies and receive the blood and at 11:35 p.m. Sgt. J.L. Emrick was dispatched to the same location for additional blood.

Moroccans on move to Sahara

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The first convoys of Moroccans begin moving toward the border of the Spanish Sahara today despite debate in the United Nations Security Council over King Hassan II's plans to lead 350,000 unarmed countrymen into the disputed territory.

Trucks and buses began moving the marchers out of oases around the country. Special trains were to take them to Marrakech, the country's second largest city and the southern terminus of the railway.

Motor convoys were being readied in Marrakech for the 500-mile trip to the border town of Tarfaya. From there it would be a 60-mile march over the stony desert to El Aaiun, the capital of the Spanish Sahara, to reinforce Morocco's claim to the northern part of the territory.

Officials said the fittest of nearly 525,000 volunteers were being selected for the march, which they said is likely to begin by this weekend.

Spain asked the Security Council Monday to call on Hassan to hold up the march, which it said "constitutes an act of force" against the territorial integrity of the Spanish Sahara. Costa Rica submitted a resolution supporting the Spanish request.

Morocco said the march would be a completely peaceful demonstration and asked the council to postpone debate indefinitely to await negotiations by Spain, Morocco, Mauritania — which is claiming the southern and eastern part of the territory — and Algeria, which with Spain said a self-determination referendum should be held.

B.P.W. WEEK — Newly appointed city manager George Shapter Jr., is shown holding the proclamation he has just signed declaring the week of Oct. 19-25 as "National Business Women's Week." Club president Jane Bolton is seated at the right and in the middle of the photograph is vice-president Joyce Fields.

'BPW Week' being observed

The week of Oct. 19-25 has been designated as "Business and Professional Women's Week" in Washington C.H.

The Washington C.H. Business and Professional Women's Club was formed in 1940 with Frances White as the club's first president. Since that time, approximately 30 women have held the position, each of them striving for community betterment.

The club has total of 110 members and projects of the club consist of scholarships in the amount of $100 for deserving Miami Trace and Washington Senior high school seniors; American Field Service program grants for each of the high schools; sponsoring one student for a teen-age drug institute at Ohio Wesleyan University, and sponsoring a representative from one of the schools to the annual Buckeye Girls State conference. The club also has available an educational fund that can be loaned to a prospective college of special school student upon completion and approval of their application.

The civic participation committee of the club sponsors the August bloodmobile visit, secures gifts for state hospital patients and serves as the hostess for two dinner meetings along with planning activities for BPW Week.

Highlights of the week the local club will be observing are the fall district conference where the Washington C.H. representatives will be in charge of the entertainment Oct. 19 at Ballefontaine and Oct. 22 and 24 is set aside for members wishing to lunch together at the Washington Inn. Members are provided the opportunity to have breakfast together at 8:30 a.m. on Oct.

DP&L cutbacks put into effect

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton Power & Light Co. placed a 35 per cent cutback on natural gas allocations to nonresidential customers into effect Monday.

A power company spokesman, Jerry Morgan, said the cutbacks will affect 16,000 customers through the winter months. The firm cut back to nonresidential users last year was 29 per cent.

Local school boards and other users with more than one meter will be able to spread the allocation over their outlets, Morgan said, enabling the system to benefit from a building using alternate fuels.

Morgan said the firm would provide propane gas through its system to natural gas customers wanting to buy it.

Dayton Power & Light gets 98 per cent of its natural gas from Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

Youth receives suspended sentence in weapons case

An 18-year-old Columbus youth was fined $150 and court costs and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail with 20 days suspended pending good behavior for one year by acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case during Monday afternoon's court proceedings.

The sentence was imposed after Timothy E. Ball was found guilty of the mishandling of firearms in an automobile by Judge Case. Ball was stopped Sunday afternoon by Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Camp on Ohio 207 in Madison Township during a routine check and found to have had three loaded automatic revolvers in his car along with burglary tools. Two unnamed juveniles, who have been released to their parents, were passengers in the Ball vehicle. Their ages were 11 and 15.

Judge Case also heard cases involving the keeping of a vicious dog and making menacing threats. Acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson, dealt with persons charged with assault and disorderly conduct.

Earl T. Rucker, 30, of 912 N. North St., was fined $50 and court costs by Judge Case for keeping a vicious dog. The charge stemmed from an incident Oct. 11 when a postal employee was attacked by the animal in the vicinity of Rose Avenue and North Street.

William K. Elrich, 43, Trotwood, was fined $50 and court costs and sentenced to serve four days in jail after he was found guilty by Judge Case of making menacing threats on Oct. 16.

Benjamin A. Nebbergall, 30, Greenfield, was fined $150 and court costs and sentenced to four months in jail with $100 of the fine suspended and all but six days of the jail sentence suspended by Judge Simpson providing Nebbergall be on good behavior two years after he was found guilty of assault. The altercation took place at the Dublin Bar, S. Fayette Street, Aug. 31.

Robert S. Longberry, 20, of 519 Fifth St., was found guilty of assault against his wife, Theresa at their home Sept. 13. Judge Simpson assessed court costs and sentenced Longberry to 30 days in jail with all of the jail time suspended in exchange for two years good behavior.

Rebecca A. Ruth, 21, of 1014 Washington Ave., was found guilty of disorderly conduct by Judge Simpson after a private warrant for such charge was filed against her by Linda Penwell, Columbus Avenue, Aug. 31. She was fined $65 and court costs with $50 of the fine suspended and told to stay away from Mrs. Penwell and her family one year and have no more offenses of this nature for one year.

Hull quits post as OSU director

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard B. Hull has resigned as director of the Ohio State University Telecommunications Center due to ill health.

John Bonner, vice president for educational services, said Mervin A. Durea, assistant director, will serve as temporary director.

The 61-year-old Hull headed stations WOSU, WOSU-FM, WOSU-TV and WPBO-TV in Portsmouth. He is chairman of the Ohio Educational Television Network Commission and chairman of the Great Plains Education Television Library Policy Board.

Hull is past president and past board chairman of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Officers check eight accidents

A Sabina man was charged by Washington C.H. police officers with a traffic violation after being involved in a rear-end collision at 4:17 p.m. Monday.

Police reported a car driven by Michael E. Dowler, 20, Sabina, struck the rear of an auto driven by Loren T. Vincent, 70, of 1472 CCC-Highway-W, at the intersection of Leesburg and Grand avenues. Dowler was cited for failure

Mercy death case continues; parents to testify today

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Karen Ann Quinlan's parents appear in court today to argue for their 21-year-old daughter's "right to die."

Two physicians caring for Miss Quinlan testified Monday that they would not disconnect her life-sustaining respirator, even under court order, although there is little likelihood she will recover from the coma she has been in for the last six months.

Miss Quinlan's adoptive parents, Joseph T. Quinlan and his wife, Julia, have filed suit seeking the right to shut off the respirator and allow their daughter to die "in dignity."

The parents were accompanied to court Monday by another daughter, Mary Ellen, 19, and the family's parish priest, the Rev. Thomas Trapasso, who supports the right to unplug the respirator.

Attorney Paul W. Armstrong, who represents the Quinlan family, also said he would call Dr. Julius Kirein to the stand today to testify as an expert on neurological problems.

Dr. Robert J. Morse, a neurologist who has been Miss Quinlan's treating physician at St. Clare's Hospital in nearby Denville, was the first of two witnesses called by Armstrong when the trial opened here Monday before Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr.

Morse spent some three hours on the stand describing his patient's condition and medical treatment. He was questioned by Armstrong as well as state Atty. Gen. William F. Hyland; Morris County Prosecutor G. Colleser; Miss Quinlan's temporary court-appointed guardian, Daniel R. Coburn; and attorneys representing the hospital.

Morse said Miss Quinlan was in a "chronic, persistent vegetative state" but that she has "awake" and "asleep" cycles. He said that in the "awake" cycles Karen's eyes are open and she reacts to pain, noise and light. Morse said that despite the signs of life Karen showed, she has never shown signs of recognizing the doctors and nurses who treat her, as many other vegetative patients do.

He testified that a doctor cannot predict Miss Quinlan's prospects with certainty, but he said that in his personal opinion she would "never become a functional, cognitive person."

Stolen car recovered

A stolen auto and a citizen's band radio and scanner constituted the larceny reports issued by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an incident of trash dumping.

A car belonging to Harry E. Arnold, Stafford Road, which was taken sometime after midnight Saturday while parked in front of 206 W. Temple St., was recovered by the Ross County Sheriff's Department early Sunday morning parked on Ohio 104 near the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital. The auto was described in running condition and returned to Arnold.

A citizen's band radio valued at $349 and a scanner valued at $159 were stolen from an auto owned by Bruce R. McPherson, 610 High St., sometime between 8:30 a.m. Monday and 5 a.m. Tuesday. Police are investigating the grand theft.

Sheriff's deputies reported a bag of trash dumped alongside Upper Jamestown Road. When the offense occurred is unknown.

Thomas C. Harbaugh of Casstown, Miami County, Ohio, was one of a series of writers who used the pen name of "Nick Carter" in turning out hundreds of dime novels.

to maintain an assured clear distance ahead and damage was estimated as slight.

Police reported three additional Monday mishaps and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated four traffic accidents on Monday.

A truck driven by Chester May, 55, of 5300 U.S. 62-SW, struck a parked car driven by Robert E. Stackhouse, 644 Yeoman St., at the Hidy Food's parking lot on Columbus Avenue. The mishap occurred at 7:08 p.m. Monday and damage to the Stackhouse auto was estimated as slight by police.

A rear-end collision on E. Court Street near the North Street intersection involved cars driven by Cynthia C. Crabtree, 20, Columbus, and Ruth E. Leese, 22, of 11 Wagner Court, at 5:44 p.m. Monday. Police reported Ms. Leese struck the Crabtree car when blinded by the sun. Damage was minor.

An accident at the intersection of E. Market and Delaware streets at 9:57 a.m. Monday involved cars driven by Clyde P. Harkins, 35, Worthington, and Mildred B. Weade, 64, of 717 W. Elm St. Police stated that after the two cars were separated the Harkins auto struck a parked car owned by Kenneth E. Bryan, 628 E. Market St., near the intersection. No citations were issued.

An auto driven by Mary Jean. Schwaigert, 52, New Holland, failed to negotiate a left turn into the Miami Trace High School parking lot at 8:25 p.m. Monday and ran into the ditch. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies estimated damage as slight.

A car driven by Michael A. Jordan, 20, of 880 Kohler Drive, failed to negotiate a right curve at 7:35 p.m. Monday on Staunton-Jasper Road, south of U.S. 22 and ran into the ditch. Deputies reported minor damage and no injury.

A piece of furniture in the back of a truck driven by James H. Saxton, 59, Jeffersonville, fell out at 3:05 p.m. Monday on Ohio 41, two-tenths miles south of milepost 14 and struck an oncoming auto driven by Melanie A. Hargo, 20, of 618 Gibbs Ave. Damage was reported by sheriff's deputies as minor.

A mailbox and post belonging to Ralph A. Marcy, 10475 Cook-Yankee Rd., was damaged by a hit-skip driver sometime Monday, deputies reported. The incident is under investigation.

Set hearing on layoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Personnel Board of Review was scheduled to begin hearing appeals today from 35 Department of Administrative Services employees laid off in an economy move earlier in the year.

The hearings were to be the first of a series involving more than 500 state employees. It has been estimated it will take at least three weeks to hear them all.

Board executive director Earl W. Allison, executive director of the board, said the hearings had been set to begin Monday with four Welfare Department cases but those were postponed because former Welfare Director Denver White was out of town and an issue hearing was requested in one case.

At annual president's party

Duane French seated as Kiwanis president

New officers of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club were installed during the annual president's party held Monday night in the Miami Trace High School cafeteria.

Officers installed were Duane C. French as president; Thomas Mossbarger, president-elect; Gerald Ragland, vice president; Robert Tice, treasurer; Roger Kirkpatrick, secretary, and Steve Jennings, Robert Angus and Richard Maddux, members of the board of directors.

Guy M. Foster, immediate past president of the club who was honored at the party, will also serve one term on the board of directors.

The installation of officers was handled by J. Ray Anderson, lieutenant governor of the Ohio Kiwanis organization.

French, 146 Hawthorne Drive, who is associated with the Washington Lumber Co., presided over the meeting.

Foster was presented a handsome Kiwanis wall plaque and a battery-powered wall clock for his service as club president during the past year. Foster expressed his appreciation to the Kiwanis members for their assistance during the past year.

Dinner music was provided by a musical quartet headed by Mrs. Mary Jean Schwaigert and the Cecilian Double Trio, with the help of Jeff Sheridan, a baritone soloist, provided after dinner music. They sang "Ballad for Americans" which provides through music the history of America. Group singing was also enjoyed by those in attendance.

Mossbarger served as program chairman for the president's party and guests were presidents and their wives from each of the other Kiwanis clubs in the 10-W district.

The next regular Kiwanis Club meeting will be a Halloween weiner roast and party at the Norman Armbrust farm on Snow Hill Road.

1,000-point mark still in confusion for Dow Jones

NEW YORK (AP) — If you go back through 10 years of stock market literature you will find repeated predictions that the Dow Jones Industrial Average was headed for 1,000 points and beyond.

Most of the predictions were made during bull markets, when caution is subdued and confidence feeds on itself. These are conditions that brokers love to retain, and one way in which they do it is to issue bullish bulletins.

Despite their efforts, the average during the past 10 years has penetrated and remained above 1,000 points only briefly, in late 1972 and early 1973. The peak was 1,051.70.

Five other ascents flattened themselves out against the so-called barrier, reaching peaks between 943 and 995 points before suffering sharp reversals. Throughout 1975 the average has remained below 900.

While this tends to suggest that the 1,000-point level is indeed a psychological barrier, a glance at some market charts provides what appear to be a more substantial reason: As interest rates rise, stock prices fall.

The pattern isn't as sharply defined as opposing pieces in a jigsaw puzzle, perhaps, but it is there, unmistakably. In fact, the market plunge of 1974, which dropped the average to 577.60 points, coincided with the record-high 12 per cent prime rate.

Stock prices and interest rates are of course reflections of many economic factors, but they also have a direct bearing on each other. When bond yields exceed the returns on stocks, money is drained from the stock market. When interest rates fall, some of the money returns.

In the decade of the 1950s, when the prime rate was 4 per cent or so, stocks returned an average of 18.9 per cent and bonds only 1.1 per cent. In the 1960s, when the prime was still relatively low but rising, stocks returned 5.3 per cent and bonds 2.8 per cent.

So far in the 1970s, with some interest rates rising to their highest of the century, stocks have returned only 4 per cent while the return on bonds has soared to 7.1 per cent. The current status is 4.6 per cent stocks, 8.6 per cent bonds.

With that historical record as the setting, you can readily understand why many professional investors are analyzing the Federal Reserve Board's activities as closely as stocks themselves.

In their view, the Fed, which holds enormous power over interest rates, could be the single most important influence on the stock market. Even hints of lower interest rates could send stocks the other way.

Little is certain about market prices, as everyone from the food shopper to stock market investor has learned over the years, but some events do repeat themselves.

One of them, for example, is that if interest rates do indeed drop sharply you most likely will hear that old echo from the 1960s about the industrial average heading once again toward that great, 1,000-point barrier in the sky.

And another is that if interest rates rise, you won't hear a bullish sound at all from the same people. It will sound more like the groaning of a pained bear.

Massive attack set on crime, corruption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department officials are preparing a major attack on government corruption and lucrative national and international fraud schemes, says the department's chief criminal prosecutor.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard L. Thornburgh said the criminal division will hire more lawyers and devote more attention to investigating and prosecuting corruption, organized crime and white-collar crime.

But the effort could be hampered if the Internal Revenue Service gets out of criminal investigations, Thornburgh said in an interview.

"The best way to put us out of the business of dealing with white-collar fraud, official corruption and organized crime is to deny us access ... to IRS agents and their files," he claimed.

IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander has suggested the IRS should confine its work to collecting taxes and leave criminal investigations to the Justice Department and other agencies. Thornburgh said Justice Department and Treasury Department officials still hope to negotiate a solution, but if they fail, the dispute could go to the White House.

Meantime, a Justice Department committee appointed by Attorney General Edward H. Levi will complete recommendations for an assault on white-collar crime and corruption early next year, Thornburgh said.

An important element will be aggressive investigations of campaign finance violations, he said.

The Watergate Special Prosecution force, in its final report last week, criticized the department for failing to enforce campaign finance laws for decades. Thornburgh, who took over the criminal division about four months ago after six years as the U.S. attorney in Pittsburgh, said the department has "turned the corner" toward aggressive investigations of campaign finances.

On fraud, Thornburgh said his prosecutors will focus on "the massive fraud case which sometimes — I've got to be frank — goes unprosecuted simply because it is so big and so complicated and ... so difficult to unravel that you don't ever really get to the bottom of it."

He cited no specific examples of cases which have escaped prosecution, but said he will be looking for "multistate, international fraud schemes, securities fraud of substantial proportions, channeling corporate funds into improper enterprises either politically or commercially," and improprieties in union pension funds.

10-foot-tall tower replica big problem

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that Adam Karpinski has built a 10-foot high replica of Cleveland's Terminal Tower in his living room, he says he doesn't know what to do with it.

Karpinski, 55, undertook the project in April, 1973 to pass the time while waiting for materials to build cornices for his home. The self-taught cabinetmaker and upholsterer said he thought the model would only take a couple of months to complete. "I just finished it last month," he said.

He said that it took 1,200 to 1,500 hours to finish the structure. He hand-carved 12,000 to 15,000 pieces of spruce and mahogany to build it.

The replica has more than 3,000 windows made of fireproof plastic with 36 light bulbs inside for illumination. He used 14 pounds of glue and the tower weighs 204½ pounds.

BALLOT LANGUAGE, EXPLANATIONS, AND RESOLUTIONS FOR AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION PROPOSED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS AT THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 4, 1975

repair of buildings, structures, facilities or other changes or improvements to real property, including facilities providing utility services, unless there is in effect and applicable to such project a law, regulation, rule, executive order, or contract providing for affirmative action intended to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, in such work on the project without regard to their race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry or sex.

Laws, or the portions thereof, authorizing the issuance of such bonds or notes or appropriating such proceeds shall go into effect immediately, or at such other time therein provided, and shall not be subject to referendum. Any moneys to be appropriated from the general revenue fund may be used in connection with other moneys from any other source. The bonds and notes, the application of the proceeds thereof, and provisions for the payment thereof authorized by this section are not subject to any requirements, limitations, or prohibitions of any other section of Article VIII, or sections 5, 6 and 11 of Article XII of this Constitution.

The bonds and notes issued under authority of this section are general obligations of the state and the full faith, credit, revenue, and taxing power of the state are pledged to the payment of the principal thereof and the interest thereon. The bonds and notes shall be issued and sold by the commissioners of the sinking fund (herein called the "commissioners") from time to time in amounts authorized by law, subject to the limitations of this section. If bonds are notes are issued under this section to retire bonds or notes previously issued under this section, such new bonds are notes shall not be counted against the aggregate limit of bonds and notes which may be issued under this section to the extent that the principal amount thereof does not exceed the principal amount of the bonds or notes to be retired thereby. Each issue of bonds shall mature in not more than thirty years from the date of issuance. No bond or note shall mature after December 31, 2009. Each issue of notes shall mature in not more than five years from date of issuance, or from the date of issuance of the original debt represented thereby if such notes are issued for the refunding of notes previously issued. The bonds and notes shall be sold at competitive sale in the manner determined by the commissioners. The bonds and notes shall bear such terms, consistent with this section, as the commissioners determine or provide for in resolutions for their authorization or sale. Any of the powers and duties of the commissioners under this paragraph may be delegated by each commissioner to an officer or employee of such commissioners' office designated by such commissioner in a written designation filed with the secretary of state.

All projects which are established in the treasury of the state a fund designated Ohio Jobs and Development bond retirement fund (herein called the "bond retirement fund") into which shall be paid all accrued interest and premium received upon the sale of such bonds and notes. All income and profit received from investment of moneys in the bond retirement fund and the interest thereon, to be made or caused to be made by the treasurer of state pursuant to law, shall be paid into the bond retirement fund.

On or before the first day of July in each calendar year, the director of budget and management shall certify to the auditor of state and the treasurer of state the total amount of funds the director of budget and management determines is necessary to provide, together with any moneys in the bond retirement fund available for such purpose, for the payment in the ensuing calendar year of principal of and interest and any premium on the bonds, notes, and notes, or such payments, other than the amounts required to be funded with the proceeds of bonds and notes. Such certification may be supplemented or adjusted by additional certifications provided to the auditor of state and the treasurer of state by the director of budget and management. The auditor of state and the treasurer of state shall take such actions as are necessary to transfer from the state general revenue fund to the bond retirement fund the amounts so certified, as supplemented or adjusted, at the times and in the amounts required for such purposes, without necessity for appropriation; provided that if and to the extent that any part of the amount required has been appropriated for such purpose from any other funds, the auditor and treasurer shall transfer from such other funds the amount so appropriated and reduce accordingly the amount to be transferred from the state general revenue fund. The bond retirement fund shall be paid out by the treasurer of state to meet the principal of and interest and premium on the bonds and notes and charges for such payments as the same are due and payable, without necessity for appropriation.

To assure that the revenues of the state will at all times be adequate to meet the principal of and interest and premium on the bonds and notes authorized by this section, and charges for such payments, without impairment of other programs of the state, there is hereby levied, as provided below, beginning July 1, 1976, on retail sales made in this state an excise tax at the rate of seven-tenths of one percent of the price of such sales, and on the storage, use, or other consumption in this state of tangible personal property an excise tax at the rate of seven-tenths of one percent of the price at which such property has been purchased which excise taxes shall be in addition to all other excise taxes levied from time to time by the state, counties, and transit authorities, or by any other taxing authority, on retail sales made in this state and on the storage, use, or other consumption in this state of tangible personal property and shall be imposed upon the same subjects, with the same exclusions, exemptions and refunds, and paid, collected, reported, and administered in all respects in the same manner as such other excise taxes. Such additional taxes at the rate of seven-tenths of one percent are hereby levied and shall be collected with such other excise taxes authorized by law in the combined amount of whole cents for all such taxes on the same subject as prescribed by law, which law is not subject to referendum and shall go into immediate effect for the levy of such additional excise taxes beginning July 1, 1976. If no such law is in effect on May 15, 1976, then the tax commissioner shall immediately adopt and file with the secretary of state a rule prescribing such brackets and the whole cents of excise taxes applicable to each bracket; and such rule shall be effective and conclusive, upon such filing, for determining the tax levied hereby to and including December 31, 1976 or until the effective date of a law prescribing such brackets, whichever last occurs.

That portion of the taxes collected by the state from and attributable to the excise taxes hereby levied shall be paid, within ten days following the month of receipt, into the bond retirement fund until the balance in such fund is sufficient to pay the principal of and interest and premium on the bonds and notes, and charges for such payments, payable during the then current calendar year, and any balance of such portion received during such calendar year shall be paid into the improvement fund and shall be available for appropriation for costs of capital improvements, or, as provided by law, shall be paid into any other fund or funds for the payment of principal of and interest and premium on any bonds or notes of the state. For purposes of this paragraph, the portion of such sales and use taxes collected by the state from and attributable to the excise taxes hereby levied shall be determined as follows: the total collection of excise taxes collected by the state on retail sales and the storage, use, or other consumption of tangible personal property, after deducting the portion to be returned by law to counties, transit authorities, and any other taxing authority then levying such taxes pursuant to law, shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is seven-tenths of one per cent and the denominator of which is the aggregate rate of such taxes then levied by the state, and the product thereof shall be the amount of such taxes from and attributable to the excise taxes levied hereby.

The preceding three paragraphs are intended to provide internal procedures of the state for allocation of funds to meet the principal of and interest and premium on the bonds and notes herein authorized, and charges for such payments, and do not in any way qualify or affect the pledge of the full faith, credit, revenue, and taxing power of the state as hereinabove set forth.

The principal of and interest on all bonds and notes issued under this section shall be exempt from all taxes levied by the state or any taxing subdivision or district thereof.

The reference herein to the director of budget and management and the tax commissioner shall be deemed to include officers who pursuant to law succeed to their respective duties.

This section or any action hereunder does not in any way reduce the authority of political subdivisions to levy taxes or incur bonded indebtedness, nor does it affect section 5a or section 9 of Article XII of this Constitution.

Upon the payment of all principal of and interest and premium on the bonds and notes issued under this section or provision in the bond retirement fund of moneys or direct obligations of, or obligations of the principal of and interest on which is fully guaranteed by the United States, bearing such maturities and interest as well produce moneys in adequate amount at the times required for such payment, or a combination of both, the commissioners promptly shall make a final report to the General Assembly, and any balance or excess remaining in the bond retirement fund shall be deposited as provided by law. The excise taxes levied by this section shall cease on the thirtieth day after the receipt by the General Assembly of such final report.

ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This amendment will provide the boldest approach ever used by government to clean up blight in Ohio's cities and villages, and to attack the problems of unemployment. The program is a big answer to a big problem.

The most important feature is a series of direct grants to Ohio cities and villages for slum and downtown improvement programs. The money can be used for any worthwhile purpose. Possible uses include building of athletic or convention facilities, senior citizen centers, tree-planting, parks and green spaces and parking.

All projects will be initiated at the local level by local elected officials.

But the city renovation is only the beginning. Other features include:

- $200 million to clean up depressed areas of Ohio.
- $150 million to develop energy resources in Ohio to keep Ohio plants open.
- $140 million to build cancer research and treatment hospitals in Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Cleveland.
- $40 million to expand open heart surgery capacity at the Cleveland Clinic, to make this treatment available to the average working Ohioan.
- $275 million to develop top rate ports along Lake Erie and the Ohio River to open new trade horizons for the state.
- $75 million for state park facilities, including lodges within 30 minutes of the three largest cities.
- $50 million for lake and drinking water projects.
- $100 million to complete Ohio's vocational education system to make our young people productive citizens.
- $50 million for trash resource recovery projects.
- $75 million to upgrade Ohio's penal institutions.
- $145 million for needed additional state government facilities including regional office buildings.
- The projects will be paid by a $275 billion bond note, which will be repaid by 7 of 10 cent increase — less than 1 per cent — in the state sales tax.

Committee for the Amendment: Thomas J. Moyer, A.G. Lancione, Charles F. Kurfess, Michael J. Maloney, Robert T. Secrest.

ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT

VOTE NO ON ISSUE 5

ISSUE 5 WILL RAISE YOUR SALES TAXES BY 17.5 PER CENT.

Issue 5 proposes to raise $5.83 billion ($2.75 billion for capital and $3.08 billion interest) for capital improvements projects by the sale of bonds. The bonds are to be paid for by revenues generated by increasing YOUR Ohio Sales Tax by 17.5 per cent.

ISSUE 5 IS TOO EXPENSIVE.

Issue 5 proposes to force Ohioans in debt to the tune of $5.83 billion for an unwieldy and unplanned program with all the earmarks of a pork barrel promising something for nothing to everyone.

EACH OHIO FAMILY WILL HAVE TO PAY $1500 IN ADDITIONAL TAXES FOR THIS PROGRAM.

The cost of Ohio's present bond debt, coupled with these issues, will mean a loss to the General Revenue Fund of more than one half a billion dollars each year - a vast sum that could have been applied to improve existing state services or reduce your tax burdens.

ISSUE 5 BENEFITS ONLY THOSE PEOPLE WHO ARE LEAST AFFECTED BY REGRESSIVE TAXES.

Issue 5 is a sales tax increase is most harmful to those persons of moderate and low income who can least afford the additional tax burden.

The people who benefit from these issues are the people who will be buying the bonds, and sharing in the more than $5 billion in interest which YOU and every working man and woman in Ohio will be paying over the next 30 years.

ISSUE 5 CREATES A PERMANENT DEBT FOR TEMPORARY JOBS.

Issue 5 will place future generations in serious debt while creating only a minimal number of temporary new jobs; jobs which will last at the most for only a year or two.

Ohio cannot afford to go into debt to create a few jobs for programs of questionable value.

VOTE NO ON ISSUE 5

FULL TEXT OF THE RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING EACH AMENDMENT

ISSUE 1
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 9)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 38a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio relating to the valuation of open space land devoted exclusively to outdoor recreational use.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1975, a proposal to amend section 38a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 38a. To encourage the development and maintenance of open space land for the purpose of providing a means of alleviating the environmental impact of expanding areas, laws may be passed to provide that land devoted to outdoor recreation be valued for real property tax purposes at the current value such land has for such recreational use, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 2 of Article XII except that any such land which is utilized and controlled, or owned, by any organization or person who discriminates against or violates the civil rights of individuals shall be valued in accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article XII. Laws shall be passed to provide for the deferral or recoupment of any part of the difference in the value of such real property tax levied in any year on land valued in accordance with its recreational use and the dollar amount that would have been levied upon such year in accordance with Section 2 of Article XII.

EFFECTIVE DATE

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1976.

ISSUE 6
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 12)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 2a of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to require the General Assembly to provide by law methods to give each candidate's name at any election reasonably equal position on the ballot and to specify that a candidate's party designation appear on the ballot less prominently than his name.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1975, a proposal to amend section 2a of Article V of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE V

Section 2a. The names of all candidates for an office at an election shall be arranged in a group under the title of that office. The general assembly shall provide by law the means by which ballots shall give each candidate's name reasonably equal position by rotation or other comparable methods to the extent practical and appropriate to voting procedures used. At any election in which a candidate's party designation appears on the ballot, the name or designation of each candidate's party, if any, shall be printed under or after each candidate's name in less prominent type face than that in which the candidate's name is printed. An elector may vote for candidates (other than candidates for electors of President and Vice-President of the United States) and in no other way than by indicating his vote for each candidate separately from the indication of his vote for any other candidate.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect, and existing section 2a of Article V of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 7
(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 10)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 7 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for the selection of delegates to national conventions of political parties by vote of the electors in a manner provided by law.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1975, a proposal to amend section 7 of Article V of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE V

Section 7. All nominations for elective state, district, county and municipal offices shall be made at direct primary elections or by petition as provided by law, and for a preferential vote for United States senator; but direct primaries shall not be held for the nomination of township officers or for the officers of municipalities of less than two thousand population, unless petitioned for by a majority of electors of such township or municipality. All delegates from this state to the national conventions of political parties shall be chosen by direct vote of the electors in a manner provided by law. Each candidate for such delegate shall state his first and second choices for the presidency, but the name of no candidate under the presidency shall be so used without his written authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, it shall take effect January 1, 1976, and existing section 7 of Article V of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 8
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 47)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio by adding Article Section 14 to authorize the state, local governments, and regional transportation authorities to lend their aid and credit to a corporation created pursuant to the law of the United States and to an agency of the State to provide rail transportation service to the State, and to authorize the General Assembly to provide property tax reductions for property used to provide rail transportation service, and to reimburse local governments for the revenue lost as a result of such tax reductions.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1975, a proposal to amend Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII

Section 14. For the public purpose of providing the state with modern and efficient rail passenger and freight transportation service, the credit of the state, and pursuant to laws passed for such purpose that extend to any city, county, township, or regional transportation authority, may be given to or loaned to, or in aid of, a corporation created pursuant to the laws of the United States, or an agency of the state of Ohio, to provide rail transportation service to the state, and laws may be passed to reduce the taxation on property used to provide the state with rail transportation service, and to provide for the reimbursement of local government units out of the general revenue fund or revenue that may be lost as a result of any such property tax reduction.

The laws passed pursuant to this section, and the lending of aid and credit pursuant to this section shall not be subject to the requirements, limitations, or prohibitions of any other section of the Constitution of Ohio, except Article VII, or Article XII, section 2, 8, and 11, of the Constitution, provided that money raised by taxation shall not be obligated or pledged for the difference between (1) the annual real property tax levied on recreational land at its recreational use value in accordance with its constitutional provision and (2) The amount of the tax that would have been paid had the land been taxed at a uniform percentage of its market value like other real property.

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect.

ISSUE 9
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 16)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 6 of Article XV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to permit the General Assembly to authorize and regulate lotteries to be conducted by charitable organizations for charitable purposes.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1975, a proposal to amend section 6 of Article XV of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XV

Section 6. Lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, for any purpose whatever, shall forever be prohibited in this State, except that the General Assembly may authorize an agency of the state to conduct lotteries, to sell rights to participate therein, and to award prizes by chance to participants, provided the entire net proceeds of any such lottery are paid into the general revenue fund of the state and the General Assembly may authorize and regulate the operation of bingo to be conducted by charitable organizations for charitable purposes.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL
If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect, and existing section 6 of Article XV of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

I, TED W. 1 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

To adopt section 38a of Article II, Ohio Constitution.

TO AUTHORIZE LAWS TO BE PASSED WHICH PERMIT LAND THAT IS DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUTDOOR RECREATION TO BE VALUED FOR PROPERTY TAXES AT ITS CURRENT VALUE FOR RECREATIONAL USE, EXCEPT LAND WHICH IS UTILIZED AND CONTROLLED BY AN ORGANIZATION OR PERSON WHO DISCRIMINATES AGAINST OR VIOLATES THE CIVIL RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS.

If adopted, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1976.

(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)

A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 1

The constitution now requires that all land in the state must be taxed at a uniform rate according to its current market value, rather than according to its use. The use of land for recreational purposes, such as rural land and the homesteads of permanently and totally disabled residents and residents 65 years of age or older.

This "open-space" amendment would create a fourth exception to the uniform tax rule by authorizing the General Assembly to enact laws permitting land to be devoted exclusively to outdoor recreational use to be taxed as recreational land instead of being taxed according to its development potential, unless the land is used and controlled or owned by an organization or person who discriminates against or violates the civil rights of individuals.

The amendment would also require the General Assembly to pass laws providing "for the deferral or recoupment" of any part of the difference between (1) the annual real property tax levied on recreational land at its recreational use value in accordance with its constitutional provision and (2) The amount of the tax that would have been paid had the land been taxed at a uniform percentage of its market value like other real property.

6 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

To amend Article V, section 2a,

TO REQUIRE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO PROVIDE BY LAW METHODS TO GIVE EACH CANDIDATE'S NAME REASONABLY EQUAL POSITION ON THE BALLOT BY ROTATION OR OTHER METHODS PROVIDED BY LAW TO THE VOTING PROCEDURE USED.

(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)

A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

Weather smiles for sixth game of World Series

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox stop fighting the rain tonight and start fighting each other again in a long-awaited sixth game of the World Series.

After three straight rainouts, all systems were "go" for the delayed contest at Fenway Park.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who called off Monday night's scheduled game because of a treacherous field, gave the green light for tonight with the optimistic assurance that "the field will be much better."

The weather was expected to be much better than it has been in recent days, too. Fenway Park, under siege by a longwinded storm since last Friday night, recuperated under the tender care of a "lawn doctor," groundskeeper Joe Mooney, and was expected to be healthy again.

Sunshine and temperatures in the 60s, the National Weather Service prediction, won't hurt Fenway, either.

"I'm edgy to play," said Boston right fielder Dwight Evans, reflecting the common feeling of ballplayers and just about everyone else.

They almost played Monday night—and would have except that Kuhn wasn't entirely happy with the conditions. He spent a long time on Fenway's outfield turf in conference with associates, including Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson and Darrell Johnson of Boston.

"The field is not suitable for a World Series game of such importance," Kuhn finally said.

Particularly bad was the right field section of Fenway Park, as Evans testified.

"It was awfully wet," the player pointed out. "Pop flies might fall in because fielders can't get to them. You might need a spoon to get the baseball out of the ground."

The white tarpaulin on the infield was sprinkled liberally with puddles, souvenirs of the long "nor'easter" that belted Boston. Although Fenway Park's drainage is reputed to be among the best in baseball, the outfield was a carpet of water. Mooney's ground crew drove an aerator over the watery outfield grass in an attempt to dry it out. Apparently they weren't very successful.

"Right field is the trouble spot," Kuhn said. "It's much worse than left or center field."

Most everyone was on the scene to get Kuhn's announcement—even the Reds. En route back to their hotel from a workout at nearby Tufts University, the players watched anxiously from the stands while their manager tip-toed through the gloomy-looking field.

The rainout tied an undistinguished Series record. In 1962, the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees also had a game postponed three times by rain. Ironically, it was also the sixth game.

For the second straight day,

Anderson took his National League champions to a gymnasium on the Tufts campus.

"We haven't lost any time the last two days since we have been able to work out," Anderson said. "We got as much work in as possible."

The continued postponement didn't change Anderson's pitching plans. He stayed with Gary Nolan as his starter in Game No. 6 and Don Gullett for the for the seventh game, if necessary.

Nolan will face Luis Tiant, the ace of the Boston staff who owns the only two Red Sox victories in this series so far. The Reds, holding a 3-2 edge, can finish off Boston with a victory tonight and carry home their first world championship since 1940.

The Red Sox, many of them bothered by bad colds because of the weather, hoped to stave off elimination and prolong the Series until Wednesday.

"I'm ready," announced Tiant, one of those fighting a cold.

Evans, appearing at a news conference Monday, told reporters that he was taking medication for his illness but was fit enough to play a crucial World Series game.

"I've played with sickness before," Evans said. "It's really nothing new. You have to play sick if you're a baseball player. You do the best you can. You can't call in and say, 'I won't be in today, I'm sick.' That's what I get paid for—playing."

Along with Evans and Tiant, "almost all of the team" is complaining of colds. But apparently Tiant wasn't feeling too bad since he went to a Boston Bruins hockey game Sunday night. And the others were in pretty good shape, too, because many of them worked out under the stands at Fenway Park Monday.

"We want to play badly," said Evans, one of the top performers in the Series. "We think we can take this World Series, so we'd like to get it over with."

Johnson feels the Red Sox can at least stave off defeat one more day with the commanding presence of Tiant.

"All of us feel that Tiant is at his maximum with four days rest," the Boston manager noted. "Luis now has had four days' rest and we are looking for him to be at his best."

FBI probes threats against ump

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Barnett, the umpire involved in a controversy during the third World Series game at Cincinnati last week, and his wife and daughter have been given around-the-clock police protection following threats on their lives, the Boston Herald American reported today.

The FBI here confirmed the agency had received a complaint and was investigating.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office requested FBI assistance after Barnett informed the commissioner that he received a wire from Cincinnati threatening him and his wife and daughter, the paper said in a copyright story. Barnett's family lives in Prospect, Ohio.

The newspaper also said extortion demands have been made on Barnett and the five other umpires working the rain-delayed World Series, between the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox, which goes into its sixth game here tonight, weather permitting.

"While not confirmed by the sources," the Herald American said, "it was believed that the threat against Barnett and his family was the result of the disputed call." The dispute arose in the 10th inning of the third game of the series.

Ed Armbrister bunted in front of the plate and he and Boston catcher Carlton Fisk collided when Fisk went after the ball.

Fisk's throw to second to get the runner went into short center field; the runner advanced to third, and Armbrister ended up on second. Pete Rose then walked, and Joe Morgan smashed a hit, driving home the winning Cincinnati run.

Both Fisk and Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson protested that Armbrister had interfered with Fisk. Barnett, an American League umpire since 1967, ruled that there had been a collision, but no interference.

Basketball merger seen as necessity

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association owners, in a move they said would bolster the sport's weakening financial status, moved to join the National Basketball Association after burying another of the economy's victims—the Baltimore Claws.

"There's no way professional basketball can survive if 25 of the 28 teams in both leagues lose substantial amounts of money every year," said John Y. Brown, president of the ABA. "We're trying to take some intelligent steps to force professional basketball into some posture of sound business and responsibility."

That theory was put into practice Monday, when owners of the seven other ABA clubs joined the New York Nets and Denver Rockets in requesting applications for membership in the NBA beginning in the 1976-77 season. New York and Denver had done so on Sept. 24.

"Merger is the wrong word," said an ABA spokesman. "We're forbidden from merging, legally, without consent of the NBA players association and the courts."

Indeed, the courts — of law, not basketball — appear to hold the key to the sport's future. Separate telegrams sent by each remaining ABA club to NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien said, in part: "If the NBA has interest in considering an application, we would like the NBA to join with us in petitioning Judge (Robert L.) Carter for permission to process an application under such circumstances as he may deem appropriate and consistent with his prior orders."

Those orders include prohibition of any merger between leagues not approved by Judge Carter and the NBA Players Association, which is involved in antitrust action to prevent such a merger. While not calling it a merger attempt, New York Nets' Owner Roy Boe made clear his feelings on the matter.

"The key to the survival of basketball is to be one league," he said. "Anybody who understands what's happening in basketball realizes the sport is in a serious position and that we need consolidation to survive."

That point probably is clearest to personnel of the Baltimore Claws, who fade into ignominy without having played a regular season game. The club's remains — the players — will be redistributed through a dispersal draft.

Giants upset Buffalo Bills

BUFFALO (AP) — Steady John Leybold missed and unsteady George Hunt didn't.

As a result, the New York Giants upset the Buffalo Bills 17-14 in a National Football League game Monday night. The Bills were a two-touchdown favorite going into the nationally televised game.

Hunt, a four-year pro, booted a field goal from 37 yards with nine seconds left and the Bills suffered their first loss of the season after four victories.

It was the Giants' second triumph against three losses.

Buffalo's Leybold, who made good on his three field goal attempts in earlier games, blew a 19-yard effort with 3:16 remaining in the fourth period. The score was tied at 14-14 at the time.

Then, with 1:12 to go, Leybold attempted a 15-yarder. It was tipped by the Giants and the Bills were dead.

For Hunt, who went into the game with only one successful field goal in three tries and who missed two attempts against the Bills, his game-winner reminded him of his football days at the University of Tennessee.

"I kicked one with 13 seconds left against South Carolina that put us in the Sugar Bowl," Hunt said. "But this was great, coming on a Monday night and in the pros."

Pressure, as he lined up to kick? No way, said Hunt, explaining that a miss would have sent the game into overtime.

"Knowing there would be an overtime period makes it easier on you," he said. "But at the same time you want to make it and get it over with."

Leybold, who also had booted 21 of 22 extra points before his miss, described his 19-yarder as "just an extra point." "I thought it was good," Leybold said. "It was a good center, a good hold, I just missed it. It was one of those things. All it was was an extra point, but it just happened."

Anderson optimistic for Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Always optimistic Ken Anderson is even more optimistic about the championship potential of the Cincinnati Bengals, unbeaten in five National Football League games.

"I have to say, in my five years here, this is the best team we've had because of the depth and quality of personnel," said the Cincinnati quarterback who had the best statistics in the league in 1974. Cincinnati has never been unbeaten in its five opening games since the expansion franchise was created in 1968.

His worst outing came Sunday when the Bengals upended favored Oakland in a driving rain, thanks to a standout defense.

"I'm not using the weather as an excuse," said Anderson, who was intercepted four times while completing eight passes out of 17 for 125 yards.

"I had good success throwing last year in the rain, particularly in the Kansas City game. It was just poor throwing this week. I can't fault the receivers when I throw behind them." The main difference, he said, is when Cincinnati is playing a "really tough" team, there are enough good players to make big plays when the offense is not doing well.

Coach Paul Brown's Bengals are like a family with an unusual closeness between the offense and defensive players.

Hunters fight mosquitoes, marsh for elusive Teel

By JIM DAUBEL

Written for Associated Press
Mosquitoes weren't the only things winging through the marsh on a recent foggy morning but they were far and away the most plentiful.

Three of us lathered ourselves with insect repellent and set off in a shallow draft punt boat for a day of teal shooting in a private marsh on Lake Erie's south shore.

Roger Lorensen, a longtime waterfowler in the marshes, and I were guests of Henry Schmidt, former national president of Ducks Unlimited who retired this year after 20 years as president of the prestigious Ottawa Shooting Club on Sandusky Bay.

For a confirmed waterfowling addict, it was to be a perfect day.

The weather was almost perfectly miserable. Heavy fog seeped from the sky, a warm rain pelted us periodically and the pesky mosquitoes hovered over us in clouds.

Fortunately, so did the ducks. Hundreds of mallards, blacks and teal flushed from the drainage ditches and cattails on either side of us as we motored the short distance into the marsh.

Thousands of assorted waterfowl wheeled overhead throughout the two hours it took to bag limits of four teal each.

The unusually heavy pre-season flight was confirmed by Karl Bednarik, waterfowl biologist with the Wildlife Division, who reported seeing "more birds this year than ever before" in his nearly 25 years on the scene.

Moeller holds 'AAA' lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Moeller, the season-long Class AAA leader, has a new challenger this week in The Associated Press' state high school football ratings.

Lakewood St. Edward, an impressive winner over rugged Cincinnati Princeton Friday night, slipped into second place ahead of Warren Harding.

Moeller continues to lead the big schools with 245 points. St. Edward has 222 points, three ahead of Harding. The three powers all are unbeaten and untied in seven games this fall.

Cleveland Holy Name in Class AA and Newark Catholic in Class A rolled along undefeated last week to retain their leads in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Cincinnati Wyoming vaulted into the Class AA runnerup spot after Circleville, No. 2 last week, absorbed a 14-0 loss from Class AAA Miami Trace. New Lexington maintained the third position.

Holy Name, 6-0-0, commanded the most impressive lead in the three divisions. The Cleveland squad piled up 234 points, 78 more than Wyoming. New Lexington earned 153 points.

The prime challengers remained the same another week in the Class A poll. Newark Catholic, 7-0-0, accumulated 245 points, No. 2 Canal Winchester 214 and No. 3 Burton Berkshire 172.

In Class AAA, East Liverpool jumped one spot to fourth and Findlay did likewise for fifth. Newark fell two rungs to sixth, Upper Arlington was seventh, Kettering Alter eighth, Zanesville ninth and Canton McKinley 10th.

In Class AA, Poland advanced two positions to fourth and Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary three to fifth. Wheelersburg was sixth, London seventh and Ironton eighth.

Circleville's first setback of the season cost the Tigers seven spots. They are now ninth ahead of No. 10 West Lafayette Ridgewood, the lone newcomer to the Top Tens.

In a rarity, the Class A leaders remained in the same nine spots as a week ago. Carey again was fourth, Loudonville fifth, New Philadelphia Tuscarawas Catholic sixth, Salineville Southern seventh, Middletown Fenwick eighth and Rockford Parkway ninth. Middlefield Cardinal, tied with Parkway last week, slipped one notch to 10th this week.

Ohio contributes 46 pro gridgers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Led by Ohio State's 25 products, Ohio colleges have contributed 46 players to the National Football League this season.

The former Buckeyes are scattered among 18 teams, including three apiece in Oakland and Green Bay. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Denver, New Orleans and the New York Giants have two each from Ohio State.

The oldest of Woody Hayes' proteges is Jim Marshall, 37, a defensive end regular on the Minnesota Vikings' famed front four. Marshall spent one season each in Canada and Cleveland before being swapped to the Vikings in 1960. His last Ohio State season was 17 years ago.

Here is a list of Ohio collegians and their 1975 NFL teams:

Ohio State—Linebacker Stan White, Baltimore; tackle Dave Foley, Buffalo; running back Harold "Champ" Henson and tackle Rufus Mays, Cincinnati; center Tom DeLeone and guard Chuck Hutchinson, Cleveland; tackle Mike Current and linebacker Randy Gradishar, Denver; safety Mike Sensibaugh, Kansas City; linebacker Bruce Elia, Miami.

Defensive tackle Pete Cusick, New England; wide receiver Morris Bradshaw, safety Jack Tatum and cornerback Neal Colzie, Oakland; safety Doug Plank, Chicago; running back John Brockington, tackle Dick Himes and safety Steve Luke, Green Bay; Doug "Bubba" France, Los Angeles.

Guard John Hicks and tackle Doug Van Horn, New York Giants; linebacker Rick Middleton and tackle Kurt Schumacher, New Orleans; running back Jim Otis, St. Louis; safety Tim Anderson, San Francisco, and Marshall.

Ohio University—Punter-kicker Dave Green, Cincinnati.

Miami—Linebacker Brad Cousino, Cincinnati, and linebacker Bob Babich, Cleveland.

Xavier—Guard John Shiners, Cincinnati.

Kent State—Running back Larry Poole, Cleveland; running back Don Nottingham, Miami; linebacker Jack Lambert, Pittsburgh, and wide receiver Gerald Tinker, Atlanta.

Toledo—Cornerback Curtis Johnson, Miami.

Central State—Defensive end Melvin Lunsford, New England.

Bowling Green—Linebacker Jamie Rivers, New York Jets, and linebacker Phil Villapiano, Oakland.

Cincinnati—Running back Reggie Harrison, Pittsburgh; linebacker Bobby Bell and punter Jeff West, St. Louis, and safety Brig Owens, Washington.

Defiance—Cornerback Ben Davis, Detroit.

Dayton—Center Bob DeMarco, Los Angeles.

Youngstown—Quarterback Ron Jaworski, Los Angeles, and tight end Craig Cotton, San Diego.

OSU keeps top spot in poll

Scalping of tickets attacked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three or four Ohio State-Michigan tickets, 25-yard line, $100 apiece.

That classified advertisement has been appearing in a Columbus, Ohio, newspaper.

It irks Bob Ries, the Ohio State ticket director. Ries and his fellow administrators have been waging a long-time war on college football ticket scalpers.

"We read the newspapers and check those ads out to see who's doing what. But we're really powerless to do anything unless they're being sold on university premises," said Ries.

Scalping, however, hasn't been confined to advertisements in the past. Holders of the prized tickets, especially students, have swarmed around Ohio Stadium to hawk the ducats for as much as they get.

The university has made big inroads against that practice this season for two reasons.

The school's anti-scalping policy, which can lead to ejection and future denial of admission to OSU activities, is printed on the face of tickets for the first time.

And Ohio State is requiring students to show their identification cards when they enter the giant horseshoe stadium this fall.

When North Carolina's Tar Heels opened football practice before September, 29 freshman scholarship players turned out.

Top Twenty until three weeks ago, jumped from 12th to 10th by defeating Missouri, which had been 10th, 31-20. The losers fell to 15th.

Ohio State was No. 1 for the third week in a row. The Buckeyes trounced Wisconsin 56-0 and received 51 first-place votes and 1,164 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of 59 sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Oklahoma received the other eight firstplace votes and 1,053 points by defeating Kansas State 25-3. Third-place Southern California earned 851 points for a 17-3 victory over Oregon while No. 4 Nebraska accumulated 828 points by downing Oklahoma State 28-20.

Last week, with 55 panelists voting, Ohio State outpolled Oklahoma with 42 first-place ballots to 12 for the Sooners and 1,066-982 in points. At that time, Southern Cal received the other first-place vote and 844 points while Nebraska had 762 points.

Texas A&M, a 14-6 victor over Texas Christian, was a distant fifth with 618 points. Then came Alabama with 572 points for a 30-7 triumph over Tennessee, Michigan with 551 points for Opening lead - six of diamonds.

The so-called automatic plays work well in most deals, but they are sure to lose points in others.

Take this deal where the defense was less than adequate. West led a diamond to dummy's king. Declarer returned a trump and, after East followed low, went up with the king. South then cashed the ace of diamonds, discarding a heart, and ruffed a diamond in dummy.

He next played a heart, won by West with the queen, but there was nothing West could do to defeat the contract. So declarer made four spades, losing a spade, a heart and a club.

It is true that in most deals East should play low from the A-4 when the trump is led from dummy. This follows the general principle of playing second hand low on defense.

But in this case East should go up with the ace of spades at trick two. He should realize that South has the ace of diamonds (aces are almost never under-led against suit contracts) and that declarer will probably win the spade and discard a heart on the ace of diamonds. (Actually, South might have the A-Q of diamonds and discard both hearts from dummy.)

Had East taken the ace at once and returned a heart, declarer would have lost a spade, two hearts and a club for down one.

East probably hoped his partner had the Q-x of spades and that declarer would finesse the jack, but this was a rather far-fetched hope. The specter of the diamond ace in South's hand, and perhaps the queen also, should have induced East to rise with the ace.

He had a better chance of stopping the contract by aiming for two heart tricks than by standing pat.

Easing Jet Lag Problems

After a flight from Europe it takes me almost 10 days before my sleep and eating habits are adjusted. During this time I can barely function in my job. Is there any way that this can be prevented?

Mr. H.C., N.Y., N.Y.

Dear Mr. C.:

One of the remarkable structures in the human body is the time-clock mechanism that is built into its organs. Daily rhythms, known as "circadian" rhythms, affect the body's temperature, the heart rate, the respiration, sleep and patterns of eating.

Rapid transportation by jet plane, known as "jet lag," affects some people more than others. Few people are totally unaffected by this "shock" to our body stability.

The United States government is aware that the effectiveness of its officials can be hurt by "jet lag." They recommend that travelers base their sleeping schedule on their time of departure rather than on the time of arrival.

For example, a person leaving Paris at 6 p.m. arrives about eight hours later in New York City. He is exhausted and weary because it is 2 a.m. by his departure time.

Yet, on arrival, because of the five-hour time difference, it is only 9 p.m. by New York time. Herein lies the key to adjustment. He should not go to sleep based on New York time, but rather on Paris time.

The reverse, of course, occurs in flying from New York to Paris.

There are now a number of drugs being tried in an effort to readjust this jet lag. One drug, a stimulant, is used to cause a forward time shift. Another, a depressant, is being tried to cause a time back-shift.

It is hoped that safe drugs may soon be the answer to the many people who, like yourself, are severely affected by jet travel.

The recent report that plastics around meat products can be dangerous is disturbing to me and my friends. What is the latest report on this?

Mrs. M.H., Ind.

Dear Mrs. H.:

Preliminary studies about the heavy plastic, polyvinyl, used to package certain foods, medicines, cooking oils and fruit juices seem to indicate that some possible danger exists in large concentrations. It is for this reason that the Federal Drug Administration and other health-governing agencies are evaluating this and other plastics to insure complete safety to the consumer.

Remember the thrill when you first made an enlargement in the darkroom and the big kick it was to see the black and white image appear there on that paper in the developer? Fun, wasn't it. Well, it's even more fun to make your own color enlargement. Oh, sure, I've gone through that all-day-and-into-the-night stuff with dye transfer, but here I'm talking about fun color printing with CIBACHROME.

I'd been reading about CIBACHROME and how easy it was but it wasn't until last Thursday night that Marty and I had a chance to open a CIBACHROME kit and make a print. We made a print of a fall color slide I had made last week down along Paint Creek on Agachrome. Simple? You wouldn't believe how simple.

First we just slipped the slide into the enlarger, exposed the sheet of CIBACHROME paper for, in our case, 20 seconds at f-5.6 and then slipped the paper into the processing drum, turned on the lights and poured in the developer, rolled the drum 2 minutes; then out with the developer, in with the bleach for 4 minutes; then a three minute fix and three minute wash and that's it. Put the print on a towel to dry. You've got yourself a beautiful color print. This process comes from Ilford, which is a Ciba-Geigy Co. which is a part of — but that's another story for another time.

I hate to bring it up at this point, but Christmas is fast approaching and you jolly-well better get thinking about a good idea for a photographic Christmas card. This Thursday, October 23, we are having a film, and we'll kick around ideas on photographic greeting cards. It's a part of our CKFN series, but feel free to come even if you've never been to a CKFN session. You just might get a great idea for a card for this Christmas.

Sewer line project eyed by city board

After nearly two hours of discussion concerning the use of the freshman health book, the Washington C.H. Board of Education considered a number of other matters, including a proposal to improve the sewage lines from the high school cafeteria.

The board authorized the drawing of contracts for replacement of the sewer lines to the cafeteria. Max Lawrence estimated the improvement would cost $4,100 and would eliminate the blocking of existing lines which were found to be inadequate.

The proposal calls for larger lines feeding trunk sewers on both Willard and S. Elm streets instead of all waste being conveyed to Willard Street.

The board accepted a $1,500 grant from the Mott Foundation at Ball State University for the continued operation of the Community Education program.

Reimbursement to teachers for college courses in the amount of nearly $4,000 was approved. Thirty-three teachers took continuing education courses during the past year, and the board commended them for their initiative.

The board approved the rental of the Middle School gymnasium for a professional wrestling exhibition Saturday, Nov. 22. The match was moved from a Sunday date because of the conflict with area church services. Use of buses for several field trips and a band competition was approved by the board.

A social studies and physical education teacher, Dwight Garrett, was approved for hiring by board members.

IN OTHER action, the board:

—Approved the reimbursement to faculty members for professional meeting expenses;

—Employed three persons for the elementary lunch program;

—Agreed to approach the City Teachers Association before acting to change the medical insurance coverage;

—Employed a volleyball instructor for the Community Education program;

—Agreed to continue to allow the Washington C.H. Jaycees use of the Middle School auditorium for Saturday afternoon movies through December; and —Granted Miss Christy Brown a one-day leave to get married.

Another fire hits refinery

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Another fire broke out at the Gulf Oil Co. refinery in South Philadelphia Monday night, near the scene of a blaze in August that killed eight firemen.

Officials said the latest fire erupted in a distilling complex near the Schuylkill River waterfront where tankers unload crude oil. Firemen brought it under control in about three-and-a-half hours without injury.

Authorities said propane gas apparently escaped around a faulty seal and ignited.

It was the city's third major refinery fire in about nine weeks. Mayor Frank L. Rizzo was injured one week ago in an explosion during a fire at the nearby ARCO refinery.

Prayer breakfast draws 77 persons

The 77 teens and teachers attending the teen prayer breakfast at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning were guided during the meditation time by Charles J. Richmond, minister, on the theme, "We Look to Jesus."

Kelly Steele and Carol Bryant, both juniors at Washington Senior High School, led the singing. Jane Henry, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer.

After a breakfast of scrambled eggs, milk, and toast, John Smith, evangelist from Elizabethton, Tenn., spoke to the group on Moses. He urged the teens to, like Moses, have the courage to say no to evil, the faith to say yes to God, and the wisdom to put God first in their lives. Linda Hollingsworth, a senior at Washington Senior High School, dismissed the session with prayer.

The next prayer breakfast will be Oct. 28 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, nine through twelve grades, are welcome.

PUCO affirms rate increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Monday affirmed its year-old decision to allow the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. an electric rate increase to provide a 7.21 per cent rate of return.

The commission acted on the company's request for reconsideration of the Sept. 16, 1974, decision, which reduced the firm's application for an 8.8 to 9.7 rate of return. CG&E disputed the commission's finding that the original request would yield the company an excessive rate of return.

CIA opened, read Senate mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA opened and read at least three and perhaps eight letters written by Sen. Frank Church during and after a 1971 trip to the Soviet Union, according to evidence obtained by the Senate intelligence committee.

Church, chairman of the Senate panel, confirmed in a telephone interview Monday that copies of two letters he had written to the Soviet Union "thanking our hosts for their courtesies" had been found in CIA files. Church, an Idaho Democrat, authorized release of the two letters to The Associated Press.

The Senate panel today begins three days of hearings into CIA and FBI mail-opening programs. CIA Director William E. Colby has criticized the hearings as a "fifth rerun of the great mail-reading story."

A committee source said that in addition to the two letters found in CIA files, committee investigators also had discovered agency records of five other letters Church wrote to the Soviet Union at about the same time. However, the source it was not clear whether those five letters actually had been opened by the CIA or whether the information on the outside of the envelope merely had been copied in accordance with legal mail cover procedures.

Last month, Church revealed that the CIA opened a letter he had written to his mother-in-law during the same trip to the Soviet Union. Church said Monday that the committee had learned about the letter from a CIA official involved in the mail-opening program but "evidently it was destroyed" by the CIA since investigators are unable to find a copy of it in agency files. This would bring to eight the number of Church letters handled by the agency.

The letters were written following Church's return from the Dartmouth Conference in Kiev during July. Other participants in the exchange program with prominent Russians included Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., retired Lt. Gen. James Gavin, former ambassador to France; Charles Yost, former U.S. representative at the United Nations; and Patricia Harris, former ambassador to Luxembourg, according to a spokesman for the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, the principal sponsor of the conference.

There was no indication that the CIA also had opened their letters.

In a speech to a Navy League dinner Monday night in New York, Colby voiced his sharpest criticism yet of the congressional investigations of the CIA and suggested that they were staging "successive, sensational reruns for the amusement, or even amazement, of our people."

He referred specifically to today's Senate hearings, calling them "our fifth rerun of the great mail-reading story." Colby said he had first revealed the existence of the CIA's mail-opening program and that it had been investigated by the Rockefeller Commission and two House committees.
